New Endowment Fund For Manitoba University Favors Union Government In British Columbia To Meet Present Conditions

Government of Manitoba Will Appoint Judges to Investigate Disappearance of Funds of Provincial University

Will Restore Needed Sums

Associated Press
Winnipeg, Sept. 7.—The government of Manitoba will appoint a judicial commission to investigate circumstances attending the disappearance of short-ages in the University of Manitoba endowment funds, Hon. R. A. Hoey, Minister of Education and Acting Premier, intimated to-day. The government also will restore the endowment funds, it is understood.

An official statement setting forth the government's programme will be issued as soon as Premier John Bracken returns from the east.

SHRINKAGE SHOWN

Audits of the university trust funds have shown the $1,600,000 fund reduced to about $100,000, the Rockefeller trust fund of $500,000 depleted and other smaller trusts considerably reduced. These funds were in the custody of John A. Macphay, K.C., former bursar and chairman of the board of governors. Macphay is charged with the theft of more than $47,000.

Suffering from cancer, Macphay's present physical condition precludes possibility of an immediate trial. He was given an indefinite remand when (Turn to Page 2, Col. 2)

JOBS FOR MORE MEN IN SEVERAL CITIES

At Winnipeg C.P.R. Adds Employees at Locomotive Works; In Detroit District Ford Company Increases Staff

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, Sept. 7.—Nearly 1,200 employees of the Canadian Pacific Railway locomotive department here to-day went back for twelve-days' work in September, in addition to the 700 men of the car department who were taken on again September 1 to work for twenty-one days, according to an announcement by the company.

All men will continue to be employed on the basis of a forty-hour week, and no extra help will be taken on, according to the announcement.

The employees of the car department worked twenty-two days in August, a considerable increase over the previous month, made possible by the necessity of preparing additional grain cars to take care of the large grain crop expected this year.

RETURN OF CONFIDENCE

Winnipeg, Sept. 7.—Wheels of industry are slowly gaining momentum, and there has been a remarkable increase in confidence during the last few months in eastern Canada, says S. G. Dobson, assistant general manager of the Royal Bank of Canada.

"A large element of well-informed people in Canada and the United States definitely believe the corner has been turned, and that we are now on the road to recovery," he declared in an interview here. "The increase in confidence is distinctly encouraging."

Prairie Wheat Put At 426,813,000 Bushels

Winnipeg, Sept. 7.—The wheat fields of the prairies have produced 426,813,000 bushels of wheat this year, if the annual estimate of grain crops compiled by The Winnipeg Free Press is correct. Saskatchewan's production is placed at 217,602,000 bushels, Alberta at 168,120,000, and Manitoba's at 41,090,800.

Although the Saskatchewan wheat acreage was the largest of the three, the estimate of the average yield in that province is lower than in the

ON REMAND IN MANITOBA CAPITAL

While the Government of Manitoba is preparing to appoint a judicial commission to inquire into the disappearance of the endowment funds of the University of Manitoba, John A. Macphay, K.C., above, is still at his home and on remand for appearance in police court on a charge of theft.

MAYOR MEETS UNEMPLOYED

Canadian Press
Stratford, Ont., Sept. 7.—Unless a special session of the city council is called by Mayor L. Craft to deal with the grievances of the Stratford Unemployed Association, the city is threatened with a second strike of jobless men. Members of the association were scheduled to meet Mayor Craft to-day regarding the proposed meeting.

SAANICH LIST SETS NEW MARK

Registration for Provincial Franchise 6,122 To-day 1,734 New Names

The largest provincial voters' list ever compiled in Saanich became a certainty this morning when enrolment of 6,122 names was reported by W. O. Wallace, superintendent of registration. The cancelled list had 5,360 names recorded and was much in excess of all preceding lists of Saanich voters.

The objective of the reregistration was placed at 7,000 names and it is expected that this will be exceeded before the lists close on Wednesday evening, September 14.

A point of much interest, developed by the registration, was that 1,734 new residents had been recorded, up to Saturday evening. Enumerators report that many Saanich families, now absent on vacation, are expected to return to their homes during the coming week. As it is possible that a number of such families may be overlooked in the recheck by the enumerators, who have completed their house-to-house work, returned vacationists are asked to register at the downtown office, 1203 Broad Street, which will be open daily from 9 a.m. until 5:30 p.m.

MAY FIGHT EXTRADITION

Charles E. Walters, Auburn, Wash., Appears Before Judge Here

Was Arrested on Grand Larceny Charge at Request of Seattle Police

Charles E. Walters, former president of the Auburn National Bank, Auburn, Washington, arrested here on a charge of grand larceny at the request of Seattle police, will probably fight extradition proceedings, it was learned this morning.

Stuart Henderson has been retained as counsel by Mr. Walters, who was scheduled to appear before Judge P. S. Lampman this afternoon in answer to an extradition warrant sworn out this morning.

Mr. Walters was arrested by the city detective department at request of Seattle police on a charge of grand larceny filed in Justice of Peace J. William Hoar's court in Seattle.

"The charge," a Seattle dispatch says, "is the result of efforts of post office inspectors to return Mr. Walters to this state to face a secret United States Federal grand jury indictment charging him and several others with using the mails to defraud more than eighty persons of several thousand dollars."

"The secret indictment was returned by the grand jury in Seattle but federal attorneys informed post office inspectors defendants cannot be extradited from Canada for mail fraud violations. They can be extradited on grand larceny charges if sufficient showing is made to Canadian officials."

"The justice court complaint against Mr. Walters and his son, Ralph, is that they sold stock in a corporation to M. J. Moore, by misrepresenting that the organization owned banks at Auburn, Winlock and Bremerton, Washington."

SUIT AGAINST CHIEF FAILS

Saanich Police Head Praised by Judge in Dismissing Action

Was Sued for $5,000 Damage for Alleged Improper Imprisonment

Chief Allan Rankin of the Saanich Police, was praised by Mr. Justice Murphy in the Supreme Court for his action in taking Frederick Louis Handy of Keating into custody and putting him in the city jail overnight on the grounds that he "would feel better in the morning after calming down."

The praise for the actions of the chief and Constable Elwell came at the end of an all-day trial Tuesday in which Handy sued Chief Rankin for $5,000 damages for improper imprisonment last April 1, and because the overnight detention in the Victoria jail had so shattered his nerves and upset his condition that he claimed he has been suffering from a nervous breakdown ever since and has been unable to work. The justice dismissed Handy's suit.

Evidence was given to the effect the trouble at the Handy home at Keating started when Handy returned to his wife and eight children from a Cowichan logging camp where he had been working and started a general verbal assault over taxes. Mrs. Handy was joined by members of the family and the police in her testimony that Handy became so enraged over the taxation question that he smashed down the stove, broke a chair into bits, started to strike her and then called for his gun, which was in another room and which Chief Rankin decided to remove from his possession to avert possibility of danger. Handy also, it was alleged, boasted he was a "Bagley" and challenged the police to take off their coats and he would show them what a bad man he was, witnesses for

ARMS EQUALITY IS GERMANY'S DEMAND

Suggestion Is Berlin Government Will Quit World Disarmament Conference if Request Denied

Berlin, Sept. 7.—An ultimatum, announcing Germany will quit the World Disarmament Conference, if the powers agree to grant her equality in armaments, was before the world today.

From a clear sky yesterday evening Foreign Minister Baron Konstantin von Neurath published the text of the ultimatum, which was a demand for equality in armaments, was before the world today.

The note also suggested "confidential talks between the French and German governments." Its publication followed a recent statement made at Koenigsberg by Defence Minister General Kurt von Schleicher, who said if Germany was not granted arms equality she would arm herself.

The defence minister, recognized as a power behind the Von Papen cabinet, added he meant what he said. Foreign Minister von Neurath said he published the text of the note to France to dispose of erroneous impressions which had got abroad and to refute charges Germany was planning to arm to the pre-war standard.

NO OBSTACLE
 The aide memoir was intended to be confidential, he said, but France had seen fit to communicate it to other nations. It contained nothing surprising, as the text would show, he said, and there was no intent to throw obstacles in the path of a disarmament treaty among the nations.

"It is useless to tell us to have patience and wait for other powers to disarm in the course of time," he said, "and that equality will duly come along, too. We have been waiting more than ten years to get our claims recognized."

The disarmament conference has come to the point where a declaration about equality can no longer be shelved. Germany can no longer be expected to submit to discrimination which is irreconcilable with the honor and security of the nation."

SECURITY DESIRED
 The aide memoir, which contained nine outstanding clauses, declared equality as the fundamental point, and that Germany was willing to discuss any project serving the end of security for everybody.

Foreign Minister von Neurath's threat was acknowledged in principle and featured to-day in the section of the German press which supports the Von Papen regime.

"It is certain to-day," the Foreign Minister said in an interview, "that it is impossible for Germany to participate in further deliberations at the disarmament conference before the question of Germany's equality has been clarified in principle. We have offered for debate the question of our equality, not our armament."

The Socialist newspaper Vorwarts, however, called attention to the fact that Italy, which alone thus far has announced its support of Germany's position, had insisted the question be settled at Geneva.

"Isn't it somewhat imprudent," Vorwarts asked, "to make such a threat when even Italy, from whose support so much is expected here, unequivocally contravenes the threat to stay away from the disarmament conference?"

His case was called in provincial court last week. Since then his condition has improved considerably, but he is not yet strong enough to be taken from his sick bed.

Winnipeg, Sept. 7.—Rev. Canon Gould of Toronto, general secretary of the Missionary Society of the Church of England, was in Winnipeg to-day, conferring with "prairie church officials with reference to loss of endowment funds. Shortages in the past few years of the University of Manitoba and the Anglican Church were discussed two weeks ago, and John A. Macbray, K.C., head of the investment firm which handled them, is on the point of a charge of theft of university funds.

It is expected Canon Gould will confer with bishops of the prairie, and the north, especially with heads of missionary dioceses whose resources, possibly to the extent of $500,000, have disappeared. Total church losses may reach $1,000,000.

Archbishop Stringer to-day indicated the advisory committee, which was named to confer with auditors now examining trust funds, "personally," would make a statement probably tomorrow.

PRESSING ITEM
 One of the most pressing items before the church at the moment is the position of the clergy of missionary dioceses, including Athabasca, Moosehide, Mackenzie River and the Yukon. There is a large number of clergymen, with wives and families, in somewhat isolated districts in those dioceses who are dependent on monthly cheques.

The position of beneficiaries of the superannuation fund and the widows' pensions fund is also causing concern.

It is believed in some quarters the present difficulties may possibly bring about changes in the Ecclesiastical province of Rupert's Land, which now consists of eleven dioceses. The Yukon may be detached, and one or two dioceses transferred to eastern Canada.

ARCHBISHOP MATHESON LOST
 Archbishop Matheson, former Primate of the Anglican Church in Canada, is almost penniless as the result of the depletion of the church's trust funds. The venerable prelate said yesterday he "had lost everything."

The archbishop had saved about $9,000. This money has been completely vanished. In addition he has not been able to get title to the house in which he lives, which he purchased two years ago for $8,000.

Only an interview Archbishop Matheson said his chief concern was the sad effect the loss of endowments would have on the whole church throughout Canada. "Personally, I have lost everything, but that is a much less serious matter," he said.

The Manitoba Government will make no statement on the university situation until the return of Premier John Bracken to the city, probably tomorrow. There will be an immediate meeting of the cabinet and a statement will be issued.

A report the Rockefeller Foundation had demanded the $500,000 donation made several years ago to the university for medical research would be replaced immediately has been denied. There had been no communication with the foundation regarding the shortage, it was stated.

Beaurnois Plans Give Final Approval

GOVERNOR IS IN VANCOUVER

Earl and Countess of Bessborough to Remain There Five Days

Vancouver, Sept. 7.—The Governor-General and the Countess of Bessborough returned aboard the steamer Princess Elizabeth from Vancouver Island this morning.

A heavy programme of public and semi-public engagements awaits them for the five days of their stay in Vancouver. They moved from the hotel to their private car during the forenoon and will reside there until their departure for Penticton and the southern interior next Monday morning.

The joint service clubs luncheon addressed by the Earl of Bessborough was the first big event on to-day's programme, although Lady Bessborough had two forenoon appointments with the Provincial Council of Women and the Crippled Children's Hospital.

Inspections of Boy Scouts and Girl Guides at Second Beach were scheduled for 4:30 p.m.

Lord and Lady Bessborough will be guests of the Corporation of Vancouver at a civic dinner presided over by Mayor L. D. Taylor this evening.

A visit to Britannia mines will occupy Thursday until 8:45 p.m.

The Canadian Club will hear an address from the Governor-General at noon Friday and in the evening Lord and Lady Bessborough will be guests of honor at a Red Cross ball.

On Saturday will be spent in a tour of New Westminster and vicinity.

HUTCHINSONS CONTINUE HOP

Ottawa, Sept. 7.—The Hutchinsons flew, bound for London, England, via the Arctic route, left Godthaab, Greenland, at 8:30 a.m., E.S.T., to-day, the first of the Department of Marine here was advised in a wireless message.

The message, which came from the steamer N. B. McLean, which is in Hudson Strait, said the Hutchinsons were bound for Julianahab, on the tip of southwestern Greenland, 300 miles from Godthaab. From there they planned to fly around the coast to Angmagssalik, and then make the all-mountain. The unauthorized landing cost.

JEAN HARLOW AT INQUEST

Louis B. Mayer, film executive, who was at the home, said he stopped her. He said Miss Harlow cried: "Let me go to him! He needs me! It's too late!"

Her question was in line with previous expressions of dashed belief that Bern actually was dead.

Questioned for a long time by detectives yesterday, the actress declared she was unable to offer any definite reason why Bern would kill himself.

Since police have decided there was no doubt of suicide, the questioning of Miss Harlow yesterday and the inquest to-morrow are more or less formalities for which there is no legal requirement.

DENIES DIFFERENCES
 The screen star emphatically denied rumors of differences with her husband over money or other causes.

She said that when she saw Bern last Saturday at the studios, he appeared "very tired." She continued that they ate dinner Sunday at the Benedict Canyon home and had given her for a wedding present and that he had complained then of a headache, saying he had been working too much.

It was at his suggestion, she said, that she went to her mother's to spend Sunday night, because her stepfather would be alone. Bern expected to join her later at the Bello home, she said; but he soon telephoned his headache was worse and that he would spend the night at the Benedict Canyon place.

OTTAWA CLEARS WAY FOR EARLY POWER DEVELOPMENT

Order-in-council Records Approval of Canal and Other Works at St. Lawrence; Canada Will Own Canal

Ottawa, Sept. 7.—Plans for the general works of the $50,000,000 Beaurnois project have been approved by the Dominion Government. Official announcement to this effect was made to-day.

The plans given the stamp of approval include the fourteen-mile Beaurnois Canal between Lake St. Louis and Lake St. Francis, near Montreal, which will be conveyed by the company to the Dominion.

Passing of the order-in-council sanctioning the plans removes any obstacle in the way of the Beaurnois project fulfilling its contract with the Ontario Hydro Commission October 1. According to the terms of that contract, the company will make 35,000 horsepower available on that date for the use of the commission. That amount is to be increased gradually until a total of 250,000 horsepower is placed at the disposal of the Hydro authorities at the end of five years.

Signing of the agreement by the Dominion and the company for the transfer of the canal to Canada is expected to take place shortly.

BENNETT GIVES RELIEF VIEWS
Premier at Calgary Conference Says Responsibility Provincial Affair

Calgary, Sept. 7.—Wayfaring workmen here have to settle down in one place or walk after the end of this month. Premier Bennett yesterday told the conference of western provinces and cities on unemployment relief here the Federal Government had decided to stop the movement of transients on trains.

While giving sympathetic hearing and promising consideration to appeals for increased federal assistance in unemployment relief, Mr. Bennett said the problem was primarily the responsibility of the provinces and municipalities.

The Dominion could not change the constitution and did not propose to relieve the smaller units of their responsibility, he said.

One of the requests the Dominion government will consider is a contribution of 33 1/2 per cent of the cost of direct relief.

Another request that the Dominion place all single unemployed in concentration camps would be difficult to meet, Mr. Bennett said. The Dominion had not power to order men into camps or to refuse them relief if they refused to go.

To put single men in concentration camps with the understanding that if they did not stay there and work they would not be given relief would require a change in the primary of the constitution. This, he said, could only be done with full consent of all the provinces.

He felt, however, this would be shifting the responsibility to the Dominion. Mr. Bennett said he had had an investigation made on relief in western Canada and he expected it to be completed by the time he returned to Ottawa. This survey, he said, had revealed "surprising evidence of what I might call duplication and excessive expense."

Mr. Bennett told a score of representatives from western cities that the Dominion government had no direct contact with cities and municipalities and could only deal with the provinces.

ORGANIZED WELFARE LEAGUE
 He organized the Canadian Welfare League, through which he hoped that the various religious and social agencies might co-ordinate their activities for more efficient and sympathetic assistance of the foreign immigrant.

In 1915 he left the ministry and became director of the Bureau of Social Research, established in Winnipeg under the auspices of the governments of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. He made a survey of the Ukrainian population in the west, and reported on the problem of the care of feeble-minded children.

Mr. Woodworth is a forceful writer, being the author of "Strangers Within," dealing with the immigration problem; "My Neighbor," and "Studies in Rural Civilization."

He came to the Coast at this time to speak at the Labor-Farmer conference at Calgary.

Referring to the conditions revealed by the foregoing testimony, Justice Murphy said:

"Mrs. Handy accordingly appealed to the police for protection. When the police arrived at the home, Constable Ellwell had good reason to believe that Handy was drunk and acting in a disorderly manner. To allow him to remain at large would have been dangerous."

The judge went on to assert that he found the arrest of Handy was justified and if Chief Rankin had not acted he would have been derelict in his duty.

On the question of how much Handy had had to drink as a result of his visit to the beer parlors on the highway between Cowichan and Victoria, Mr. Justice Murphy declared that there was "no doubt that Handy had gone to his home fighting drunk and in a dangerous mood."

The justice also found in his judgment that Handy had assaulted his wife and that she had every reason for fearing that there would be further violence.

Handy had two lawyers, D. A. Tait and J. B. Brandon, handling his case. Harold Tait conducted the defence for Chief Rankin.

FARM STRIKERS REPULSE GUARDS

Bloux City, Iowa, Sept. 7.—Nearly 100 Plymouth County deputy sheriffs, armed with shotguns, pistols and clubs, were turned back by a crowd of 500 farm holiday strikers to-day when the officers made an attempt to escort twenty-two truckloads of livestock through the picket lines at James, Iowa, near here.

Premier Tolmie Seeks Coalition

Who will leave the cabinet is also a matter of speculation, but the names of Hon. N. S. Loughheed, Minister of Lands, Hon. S. L. Howe, provincial secretary, and Hon. W. Atkinson, Minister of Agriculture are mentioned.

EXTENT OF COALITION DISCUSSED
 Premier Tolmie since his return from Ottawa last month has been actively conferring with and gathering the opinions of leaders of all shades of political opinion in the province.

Pending a fuller statement from Premier Tolmie, speculation to-day in political circles was centering around the extent of party coalition that would be achieved by the Premier. The question being asked was whether the coalition was to be a coalition of provincial interests, and not merely a coalition of factions within the Conservative party.

BOWSER OR COMPLETE COALITION
 One of Mr. Bowser's close advisers, who has been with him through all the negotiations and political moves of the last few weeks, stated definitely this afternoon that Mr. Bowser and the whole Bowser faction were standing for a complete coalition in the fullest sense of the term.

"Mr. Bowser takes the stand that the present crisis is such that all political parties must be called upon to offer and contribute their best to save the province," this spokesman said. "He will not be a party to any re-neging of the old government machine under a new name or any camouflage. He takes the stand that the best men represent the Liberal party must be included, along with capable representatives of the various independent and third party movements and not least of all, there must be labor representation in the cabinet."

FOUR PROMINENT MEN LISTED
 Among the outstanding leaders whose names were prominently mentioned in the negotiations of Premier Tolmie, to bring about an efficient form of union government capable of coping with the financial and administrative problems now bringing nearer a crisis, were two former attorneys-general of British Columbia, Mr. Bowser and Mr. Harris, both of whom had administered the office with distinction for terms of years.

They are both old political warriors and since the early days of Vancouver have been the keenest and scintillating of political opponents, as they have battled from their respective Conservative and Liberal platforms and for many years across the floor of the Legislature in Victoria. Two of the bar—Mr. Donaghy and Mr. Macfarlane. Both are known as high-type campaigners and have been known for their abilities as speakers on platforms.

Both are also distinguished for their acceptance as representatives of Liberal opinion throughout the province, as distinguished from straight partyism.

LIBERAL LEADER ABSENT
 T. D. Pattullo, leader of the Liberal opposition in the Legislature, could not be reached to-day for an expression of his opinion on the negotiations, and as far as the party is concerned, the Liberal attitude was not known.

The arrests culminated weeks of investigation.

FORCED LANDING
 On their return here they explained a forced landing was made at Oxford House, 300 miles from here. In landing they crashed into a sandbar and were unable to take off until late this forenoon.

The flight is expected to mark a new phase in the investigation of cosmic rays. Photograph records may indicate whether latitude has an effect on the rays.

Already a flight had been made at Marshall, California, along the thirty-fourth parallel of latitude and to-day a second flight from this base will complete work along the fifty-fourth parallel. The party of scientists headed by Dr. Millikan, will go from here to western Washington, along the forty-ninth parallel to complete the experiment.

Results of the tests will not be announced until Christmas time at a meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. Much technical work must be done at the California Institute of Technology before any definite result regarding the investigation can be made.

COSMIC RAY EXPLORATION
 Dr. Millikan with a party of assistants came here from Pasadena, California, to investigate cosmic rays. They fitted up a Fairchild plane as a flying laboratory, to test the effect of cosmic rays at various heights.

The plane was without food supplies and was thought to carry enough fuel for only a five-hour flight. Pilot Gordon's flying instructions were to go to 14,300 feet, cruise for an hour, and then go to the ceiling of the plane, about 22,000 feet.

Pilot Gordon, commanding officer of the Royal Canadian Air Force station here, lifted his big "flying laboratory" into the air early yesterday afternoon, prepared to remain in the air four hours. Late yesterday evening when he and his companion had failed to return, airmen declared the plane must have been forced down through lack of fuel. Because of the heavy equipment carried the men had taken no emergency rations.

FOUR YEARS FOR COUNTERFEITING

Vancouver Pair, William McIlbride and William Richardson, Sentenced to Jail Terms

Vancouver, Sept. 7.—William McIlbride and William Richardson, who pleaded guilty to charges of counterfeiting, were each sentenced to four years in the penitentiary in police court here to-day.

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police arrested the two August 29 in a raid on a house on Hornby Street in which an elaborate counterfeiting outfit was found. The two pleaded guilty to counterfeiting charges the same day and were remanded for sentence.

Police believe the Hornby Street house was the centre of supply for a counterfeiting ring which had been circulating large numbers of spurious fifty-cent pieces and other coins throughout the Vancouver district and as far as Victoria and Alberta.

The arrests culminated weeks of investigation.

Mr. Millikan is extending tests he has made in California and at other points in the United States.

JESUS UNABLE TO PAY TAXES

But He Had Wealth on Which World Is Still Drawing, Says Dr. Henry

"Jesus had no money, not even enough to pay his taxes; but he had wealth beyond dreams, stores of it on which the world is still drawing. That is to say, he was quite disconnected from more money. In fact, he was according to the New Testament, is rich towards God."

So declared Rev. E. A. Henry, pastor of Fairfield United Church, in a Labor Day sermon preached Sunday.

"It has been said business should not mean making money but adding to the world the service which it increases the world supply of real riches," Dr. Henry noted. "Some modern writers declare (and who can deny its truth?) that if this idea were to permeate the modern mind the conflict between employer and employee would cease, monopoly would disappear from industry, even the drug and drugery is unavoidable, would see himself as part of the world-enriching process."

"Trade would become a transaction for mutual benefit, manufacture would become an attempt to supply the world's wants through service, competition would be changed into emulation for service, corners and combines and price lifting would be unbearable and speculation and gambling would die. It would no longer be said it is impossible to be in business and follow Christian principles," the pastor continued.

SOLUTION ETHICAL

"The solving of these modern troubles is immensely important and gravely pressing right now. It would be a terrible thing to see our civilization undone by a wrong solution. The chief solution is ethical, and Jesus gives it. Beware of covetousness. No kind of revolution can take the place of a Christian revolution. It is Christ who demands other-love and other-seeking," said Dr. Henry.

YOUTH IS AT CHINA'S HELM

Dissimilar Situation in Japan With Her Experienced Statesmen, Says Dr. Albert

"Rotary offers a new unifying influence in China," declared Dr. Allen D. Albert of Chicago, former Rotary International president, in an interview given on board the President Taft yesterday following his return from Japan and China.

"The English language is the only language now spoken in New China, and in consequence of this a tremendous field is opened up for the propagation of Rotary ideals."

"China is unattached at present, but she ought to be made into a Rotary district, and this is one of the recommendations that I shall make to the International board when I return to Chicago."

Rotary is flourishing in Japan. "She has adopted Rotary as followed in the United States and Canada," he explained. Dr. Albert stated he went to the Orient to encourage the countries of the Far East to co-operate with the management of the World's Fair by sending exhibits to Chicago next year and also to further the interests of Rotary in the Oriental countries. He is assistant to the president of the Chicago world's fair.

While in China, Dr. Albert addressed Rotary Clubs in Shanghai, Nanking, Hangchow and Canton, and in Japan at Tokyo, Yokohama, Kobe, Osaka and Kyoto.

YOUNG MAN'S COUNTRY

He was impressed by the fact that modern China is a young man's country.

"The great difference between China and Japan," said Dr. Albert, "is that the Nanking ministry, with two exceptions, is composed of mere boys, whereas in Japan there is an altogether dissimilar situation."

"There are no better scholars, no more astute statesmen, no keener men of affairs or better organizers of business than in Japan."

"China is jumping from Jehol to jazz, but Japan is not jumping. Japan is moving with the swift celerity of a beautifully-managed express train. There is the reason why she is one of the five great powers," he said.

SUGGESTS BATHING BEACH

"The whole picture of China as revealed by my contacts," went on Dr. Albert, "suggests a bathing beach with the young people ready to run unhesitatingly into the deep. The country is as unorganized as a crowd leaving a football game."

In making these comments, Dr. Albert made it quite clear that he was not casting reflections upon the Chinese government or its people. He was merely impressed by the extreme youth of its leaders. With the exception of Foreign Minister Lo, whom he likened to the late Earl of Balfour, and T. V. Soong, Minister of Finance, both wise and experienced statesmen, the other members of the Nanking ministry were like "graduate students." He thought it most extraordinary that it was these young men, callow and inexperienced in the affairs of state, with whom the nations of the world must deal.

Minister of Commerce Kung was barely thirty years of age, and his associates were of similar age. Chiang Kai Shek, chief marshal of the Nationalist army, was born in 1889. After reviewing Japanese efficiency and Chinese impotence, Dr. Albert said, "you can only hold your breath and hope for China."

Soong, Minister of Finance, both wise and experienced statesmen, the other members of the Nanking ministry were like "graduate students." BABSON MAN OPTIMISTIC

Vice-president of Statistical Organization in U.S. Says 1933 to Be Happier

Associated Press

Wellesley, Mass., Sept. 7.—Ralph B. Wilson, vice-president of the Babson Statistical Organization, says happier days for the business world in 1933.

"The depression would be over at once," he told the nineteenth annual National Business Conference here today. "If it were possible for us to reduce at once a swamp of government borrowing 15 per cent."

He predicted that "business has struck bottom" and added "a sharp rise in the commodity and security markets indicates the worst is over."

"The total volume of business in 1933 should be greater," he said, "than that of 1932. Because the readjustment has been drastic it is not unreasonable to expect the recovery to reach normal by the close of 1934."

Man and Wife End Their Lives

Sydney, N.S., Sept. 7.—Believed to be victims of a suicide pact, William Rosnek, twenty-nine, and his secret bride, Joyce Roberts Rosnek, eighteen, died as a result of wounds from which they were suffering when found lying on the bank of a brook yesterday evening.

Both were conscious when found, but died soon afterward. No revolver has been found.

A note in the woman's purse disclosed their plan and the fact they had been married in May last.

CHEAP COW WINS AT FAIR

SAANICH SALE RETURNS GOOD

Annual Tax Sale Brings $3,024 in First Three Days

The Saanich tax sale has already brought in $3,024 for the municipal treasury, although only in progress for three days. Municipal officials expect that total sales will exceed the $3,000 received last year, although the aggregate value of the 312 properties on the list is lower than in 1931. This year there are more individual properties listed, unredeemed properties sold or taken over by the municipality were assessed at $9,200.

It is expected that value of the properties which the corporation will have to take over will be substantially below that recorded last year.

The sale is continuing from day to day at 10 o'clock in the council chamber. When no more inquiries for properties are made the unsold balance of the properties will be bought in for the municipal account.

All properties sold at tax sale are redeemable at any time during the next twelve months.

SALE OF P.G.E. TO BE COSTLESS

Premier Tolmie Gives Assurance Provincial Treasury Will Not Be Tapped in Deal

Negotiations for the disposal of the P.G.E. Railway will not cost the provincial treasury a cent and no guarantees will be given the buyers, it was stated by Premier B. F. Tolmie, this morning, when he was asked to report the sale of the provincially-owned railway was pending.

Officially, it is reported London parties are ready to acquire the road provided acceptable concessions are obtained from the government. What these concessions are is not known.

CONFERENCE MAY BE POSTPONED

London, Sept. 7.—It was said in official quarters to-day the British Government had received no intimation from the United States regarding postponement of the World Economic Conference, which has been expected to begin in London late next month.

Newspaper reports from Washington say the United States desires postponement, but preparations for the conference already are under way with a preparatory committee scheduled to meet at Geneva late in September.

It was thought likely that Great Britain, because of the need to consolidate various arrangements with the Dominions resulting from the Imperial Economic Conference held at Ottawa, would agree to postponement, and it would cause no surprise here if the conference should be delayed until early next year.

URGES NEW RULE FOR HOSPITALS

Vancouver, Sept. 7.—At yesterday afternoon's session of the annual convention of the B.C. Hospitals' Association here, Dr. A. K. Haywood, general superintendent of the Vancouver General Hospital, expressed the view that hospital authorities should insist that all pathological specimens removed at operations should be retained by the hospital.

Explaining this, he stated that such insistence on the part of the hospital authorities in this direction would put a quick stop to any tendency to "operate for a fee."

"If they are available to the hospital we have the opportunity of examining the specimens, and can soon determine whether such an operation was necessary, and if it was not, could deal with the offender," he said.

Delegates were of the opinion that hospital nurses should only be allowed to assist at operations or give anaesthetics only when specially trained in the work. It was revealed when this matter was under consideration.

Sioux City, Iowa, Sept. 7.—Sheriff R. E. Rippey of Plymouth County mobilized about 200 special deputies to-day to report the 1,000 farmers' holiday adherents were massing at James with the expressed intention of preventing twenty-two trucks of livestock from reaching the market here.

FLOWER WEEK STARTS SEPT. 11

International Florists' Telegraph Association to Meet in Toronto

Toronto, Sept. 7.—This city will be the flower center of the world the week of September 11.

From Toronto during that period will emanate the new flower styles for 1933.

They will be introduced by America's leading floral stylists at the annual convention of the International Florists' Telegraph Delivery Association, which will start Monday, September 12.

More than 2,000 florists from all parts of Canada and the United States and from foreign countries will be in attendance at the convention, which is being arranged by a representative committee of leading Canadian florists headed by Ernest Simons of Toronto.

An elaborate programme of ceremonies will attend the opening of the convention, which will be truly an international affair. A moment of silence will be observed, and at that precise moment wreaths will be placed on the graves of the Unknown Soldier in Westminster Abbey in London and the Unknown Soldier in the Arlington National Cemetery near Washington, D.C., and at the cenotaph on City Hall in Toronto.

The address of welcome to the international gathering will be delivered by Mayor William J. Stewart of Toronto. The response will be made in behalf of the florists by Charles H. Grakelow of Philadelphia, past president of the association.

The convention hall of the Royal York Hotel, largest hostelry in the British Empire, will be the scene of the sessions.

NEW COAL FUELS DISCUSSED HERE

Gathering of Trades Heads in B.C. Committee Learn of Experiments

The British Columbia coal committee held its meeting this morning at the Legislative Buildings and decided to carry on the work of fostering consumption of British Columbia coal. Reports for the last eighteen months were read and other routine business transacted.

Much interest was manifested in experiments being made in the United Kingdom in the use of "colliery" fuel, a combination of pulverized coal and fuel oil. Should this experiment prove successful, similar action will be taken in this province with a view to other enlargement of the coal market.

Other improvements in the methods of using coal were discussed and it was disclosed that while production of coal in British Columbia had decreased, the local market was taking a higher percentage of coal mined in the province.

Those attending the meeting included W. R. Wilson, president of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company; Colonel C. W. Villiers, general manager of the Canadian Collieries; J. M. Cameron, general superintendent of the E. & N. Railway; Hugh Dalton, secretary of the British Columbia Manufacturers' Association; Norman Fraser, representing the Canadian National Railway; James Dixon, chief inspector of mines for British Columbia; J. D. Galloway, provincial mineralogist; and Robert Dunn, Deputy Minister of Mines.

Quebec Relief Figures Reported

Quebec, Sept. 7.—The aggregate of amounts spent by the province of Quebec on unemployment relief up to May 1 of this year was $17,000,000, according to figures made public here. With the exception of $1,650,000 used for provincial public works, the entire amount was distributed to municipalities.

To the beginning of 1932, the city of Montreal had received $5,283,000, and Quebec City, $1,400,000, the statement shows. The largest amount to go to any county up to January 1 was $1,218,000 for Chicoutimi. Hull county received $258,000.

IS IDENTIFIED BY DYING MAN

One of Three Accused of Attacking Man in New York Held by Police

Associated Press

New York, Sept. 7.—They rarely talk, but James Mario, dying from half a hundred icepick wounds, did.

From a hospital cot here early today he looked into the face of Vincent Sorrentino, standing over him between two detectives, and his lips formed the sentence: "He was one of them."

Mario, not many months out of prison, where he had served a sentence for extortion, had been dumped from a car yesterday evening on the lawn of a Westbury, Long Island estate. His attackers believed him dead. But Mario lived. He named the assailant the City Council. Three men against whom he had testified recently in a criminal trial. The men had been acquitted. The "ride," Mario said, was to punish him with death for his testimony.

Sorrentino was held on an assault charge. Mario's death, doctors said, was a matter of hours.

DOOMSDAY BOOK PLAN IN ONTARIO

Canadian Press

Russell, Ont., Sept. 7.—A Doomsday Book, the ancient method of determining taxpayers' holdings in vogue in early England, is for a revival in Russell Township.

A questionnaire styled after the Doomsday Book, is in course of preparation. It will list the entire holdings of each farmer who is unable to meet his property tax this year, the name of his wife, number of children and the amount of income during the last year. It also asks the number of livestock owned and the quantity of grain and hay harvested.

When completed, the questionnaire must be sworn to before a notary public and sent to either the reeve of the township of C. A. Seguin, the county representative, M.P.P. for Russell.

TRADE TREATY PLANS OPPOSED

Associated Press

Paris, Sept. 7.—Adjustment of the negotiations now in progress for a Franco-United States trade understanding was called for to-day by the Chamber of Commerce of Lille in a letter to Minister of Commerce Durand.

Granting of minimum tariff schedules to the United States for certain products protected by quotas, the letter said, would be a concession "unacceptable now and dangerous in the future because it would be impossible to withdraw it."

The chamber said it believed the demand of the United States for a most-favored-nation clause should be abandoned and the debts question kept apart from commercial parleys.

Teachers Work Without Salaries

Associated Press

Chicago, Sept. 7.—Thousands of teachers, trusted back to classrooms in Chicago suburbs yesterday, and hundreds of teachers greeted them with a cordiality tempered by thoughts of unpaid bills, empty pocketbooks and long-overdue salaries.

Teachers in Chicago proper, likewise unpaid, will not return to classrooms until next week, seven days after the usual opening date. In addition to an average of three months' salary due them from last term, there was no immediate prospect of many of the teachers being paid for services this year.

New Scheme To Ease Debt Load

Associated Press

Stress, Italy, Sept. 7.—Poland suggested at yesterday's session of the Danubian conference that the larger European powers "absorb" in some manner the debts of the weaker countries, but a method by which this form of assistance might be extended was not outlined.

Bulgaria, Hungary and Roumania supported the idea and the Roumanian delegates suggested the larger powers be invited to express their views.

Paris, Sept. 7.—(Associated Press)—The Aero Club of France Monday recognized Maysie Hiltis as the maker of a new altitude record for women. August 19 she rose to a height of 9,791 metres, the Aero Club announced after checking her barograph. That was about 31,900 feet. The previous record was 8,761 metres, held by Ruth Nichols.

Conservative members of the Legislature have been invited by Premier Tolmie to present written statements of opinion as to formation of a Union Government, cabinet reorganization, the size of the Legislature and a number of other aspects of provincial administration. Many of the members have already replied and the Premier devoted most of the week-end to a study of the views submitted in the communications.

Premier Tolmie was interviewed on Saturday by Col. W. W. Foster, vice-president of the British Columbia Conservative Association, but subsequently refused to reveal the subjects under review. It is believed that Col. Foster advocated formation of a Union Government.

The Premier declined to express views upon Vancouver reports that W. J. Bowser, K.C., was preparing to re-enter political life.

RECTOR SITS IN BARREL AT FAIR

Canadian Press

Blackpool, Eng., Sept. 7.—Rev. Harold Davidson, rector of Stiffley, fell foul of the law again to-day, but his detention was brief.

The police charged him with "aiding and abetting the obstruction of a footpath" by sitting in a barrel at a country fair on exhibition at three cents a look. He promised "an original defence," but the charge was dropped in police court when the manager of the exhibition promised to break his contract with the rector.

Recently Mr. Davidson was convicted of immorality by a church tribunal. His adventure in the barrel, he said, was a means of obtaining funds for an appeal.

"PASSING THE BUCK" ON THE UNEMPLOYMENT QUESTION

In the forty or fifty speeches delivered by Mr. Bennett from Victoria to Halifax in the election campaign of 1930 we were told with tremendous emphasis that unemployment was a national problem, and that the government of Mr. Mackenzie King was responsible for the fact that some 17,000 people were unemployed. Yesterday he told the conference of western provinces and municipalities that the responsibility for the relief of the situation devolved upon them. In 1930 he said, "Put me in office and I will end unemployment in three days." He was put in office, and there are now more than 700,000 unemployed, according to figures given by his own governmental statisticians. Who is "passing the buck?"

Mr. Bennett assured the government of British Columbia that "every man would be given a job," and told the provincial ministers to go ahead with their programme of relief work. Now he says that the Dominion Government has no constitutional power to organize concentration camps for single men and intimates that no more relief work will be done. In other words, Mr. Bennett, who was going to solve the unemployment problem in three days in 1930, who sternly told Mr. Mackenzie King—when the latter was in office—that this was a national matter, is putting Canada on a dole with all its demoralizing consequences, and unloads the responsibility for this unholy mess upon the provinces and municipalities.

The Prime Minister's excuse of constitutional limitations against concentration camps is something new and decidedly novel. What a howl would have gone up from Mr. Bennett and his cohorts in 1930 if Mr. Mackenzie King had even hinted at this obstacle! Evidently constitutional limitations will not prevent Mr. Bennett from utilizing the Dominion police at heavy expense to keep unemployed men from stealing free rides on railroad freight trains.

Mr. Bennett's amazing contradiction of utterances and policies, while serious enough in normal times, is little short of catastrophic now. Although he was elected to solve unemployment and improve trade, the grim fact stands out that he not only has done neither, but, on the contrary, has made conditions worse in both respects.

WILL THE LION AND THE LAMB LIE DOWN TOGETHER?

The Vancouver Province is not logical in its attitude to the political situation. It has unanimously passed its own vote of want of confidence in Premier Tolmie who, it intimates, is inept. It has passed, with a veritable cascade of acridous comment, an equally unanimous vote of confidence in Mr. Pattullo, who it claims, is positively wicked. Then, it followed its strictures on both with a further unanimous resolution that the inept Dr. Tolmie and the wicked Mr. Pattullo get together and form a government. This is compounding ineptitude and wickedness with a grisly vengeance.

The Times yesterday reported the intention of Premier Tolmie to confer with Mr. W. J. Bowser on the political situation. Thus the whirling of time brings its revenges. A year ago such a meeting would have been regarded as a hopeless impossibility. Dr. Tolmie made speeches which, while not mentioning names, indicated that he would rather be put on the rack and have his porly body twisted into a cross-word puzzle than have anything to do with Mr. Bowser, while that gentleman's demeanor suggested that he would rather inhale huge draughts of carbon monoxide than sit in a conference chamber with Dr. Tolmie.

After all, does not the Good Book forecast a blissful day when the lion will lie down with the lamb, and the world will be a haven of ineffable peace? In this particular fulfilment of prophecy we have not yet been informed which is the lion and which is the lamb, but no matter which may be which, it is quite evident that the age of miracles is not past by a long shot. It may even be that in the political New Jerusalem The Vancouver Province might find a place, with a golden harp and sweeping celestial pinions, for Mr. Pattullo—whom it is now consigning to an altogether different world with a zeal and persistency worthy of the late Senor Torquemada.

THE GROWTH OF A VALUABLE CANADIAN INDUSTRY

How Canada's tourist industry has grown in value in the last twelve years can be understood at a glance from the following figures:

Tourists' Expenditures in Canada
1921	$250,776,000
1922	279,238,000
1923	309,379,000
1924	275,230,000
1925	238,477,000
1926	201,187,000
1927	193,174,000
1928	175,002,000
1929	130,977,000
1930	91,886,000
1931	86,394,000
1932	83,734,000

Considering economic conditions last year, a total expenditure of more than a quarter of a billion dollars—or only $25,000,000 less than in 1928—in that year makes an excellent showing. Of this amount, by the way, the United States Department of Commerce estimates that Americans alone contributed very nearly $240,000,000. The sharp decline in prices naturally had a good deal to do with the lower aggregate for 1931.

To a small extent, of course, the expenditures of foreigners in this country are offset by Canadian expenditures abroad. It has been estimated that during the year 1931, Canadian tourists spent in other countries abroad between $76,000,000 and $77,000,000. These tourists are divided into three groups: (1) those to overseas countries who during 1931 spent approximately $19,500,000; (2) Canadian tourists who leave for the United States by automobile and who during the year spent approximately $40,000,000; and (3) Canadian tourists leaving for the United States by rail and steamer and who during 1931 spent approximately $16,600,000.

Assuming the above figures to be fairly reliable, the excess of expenditures of empire and foreign tourists in Canada in 1931 over those made by Canadians abroad amounted to practically $175,000,000. Another way of comparing the value of this tourist trade to Canada, which is comparatively in its infancy, is to note that the favorable balance to which we have referred is equivalent to the fixed charges which the Dominion Minister of Finance has to meet annually on account of the national debt; and it is more than half the total at which the net debt stood immediately before the war.

A point about the tourist industry that is sometimes forgotten is that it produces the greatest returns of any industry for the least material expenditure.

PREMIER TOLMIE AND THE FREE SCHOOL AGE

Premier Tolmie's emphatic expression of opposition to the recommendation in the Kidd report that free education in British Columbia for children be abolished after they have reached the age of fourteen will have the approval of a large majority of the public. If it did not, we would have good reason to fear for the future of this province. If British Columbia, which spends much more money on booze than it does on education, and which in a single year of prosperity can exceed some $14,000,000 on public works—much of which is sheer waste—without a solitary chirp of objection from those who are now howling over the cost of our schools, believed that this young province in the newest world should limit the educational advantages of its youth in line with the Kidd committee's recommendation, it would make itself an object of universal contempt. Premier Tolmie can rest assured that this reactionary proposal finds support in strictly limited quarters, and in no circumstances is there any prospect of it being adopted.

The Kidd committee would have been on firmer ground if it had arranged for an intensive examination of the curriculum of our schools by a competent sub-committee, with a view to the specific elimination of courses which are not necessary to the adequate training of our youth. There is no question that our curriculum is loaded with deadwood, that many youngsters are required to take up subjects for which they have no inclination or adaptability; that it would be much better for them and the country if they were thoroughly trained in a few fundamentals instead of covering a long list of subjects many of which never will be of any use to them, or to anybody else, for that matter.

If Victoria had not made a unique exhibition of itself by turning down the proposal for a technical school, it would have done something worth while for the cause of sound education, for it is technical training that most of the boys and girls in the high schools need.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

THE GREAT AMERICAN DEBT
My Magazine, London

When a British soldier consumed American munitions he served America as he served his own country. Is it not obvious that while the Americans were preparing an army which only fought in the concluding phase of the war the munitions they lent the Allies were really saving American soldiers? So far from war debts representing sacrifices by those who lent them, the sacrifice was on the other side. It was those who supplied the line who made the real sacrifice, not those who supplied the goods. We supplied both. Every British citizen, therefore, is glad to think that British policy after the war pursued the line of equity and declared for the cancellation of war debts.

What must be remembered is this: that apart from the country itself, the Canadian National is the greatest possession of the people of Canada. There are millions of dollars of public money in the concern. As a physical asset, it is the greatest nationally-owned enterprise in the world. As an agent of nation-building, as an instrument for shaping the future of this country of ours, its potentialities are immeasurable. Materially, the country has sacrificed much in the belief that these things are so, and that one day it would all be repaid a hundred-fold.

It will be repaid, too, if the Canadian people remain steady. After all, it is only within recent months that the C.N.R. has become such a burden and bugbear. Before then, we heard nothing but praise for the road and its officials. We vied with each other in extolling its progress and prospects. Politicians hastily argued as to which party was the architect of the national system. Now that depression clouds overcast the economic skies, it is logical and it is Canadian to indulge in talk of abandoning the C.N.R.

After all, the railway (like its great competitor) is but the victim of a temporary business breakdown. That breakdown might be adjusted were our leaders privy to its inner nature and ready to apply the right remedies. As it is, and falling radical economic measures, it is not to be supposed that this country is going along for ever in the trade doldrums of to-day. Inevitably, the C.N.R. will become the great asset its proprietors, the public, expect it to be. It is in the nature of things Canadian.

It is for such reasons, therefore, that it is reassuring to be told that no such plan as a merger or an absorption or a "unification" is in the minds of the members of the royal commission on transportation.

Loose Ends

A little about something or other—a lot about nothing at all—including ostriches without plumes—September swells—and extra fine lather.

By H. B. W.

THIS IS the last day of summer up at our lake; or rather, I am inclined to the opinion that it is the first day of autumn. I am inclined to that opinion very strongly after a plunge into the lake before breakfast. A plunge into the lake before breakfast this morning convinced me of the inaccuracy of most people's weather observations. I mean, most people imagine we have had no summer this year, but the change in the lake's temperature, the chill which has suddenly descended on the water since the first of September, as proof indeed that there was a summer and that it is definitely over. But a plunge into the lake on a September morn—I fear the spectacle in my case is not as graceful as the original picture of that name, not, at least, in my old blue bathing suit—gives one a glow not only physical but intellectual, a feeling of courage and accomplishment not to be acquired in any other fashion. It also makes you very dependent to think that you have got to accomplish a column like this on the verandah this afternoon, and take it to town tomorrow morning for the edification of people who have never plunged into lake on the first day of autumn or done anything else worth while in their lives.

WELL, I AM also inclined to think that this first day of autumn is the most perfect day in the whole year, but perhaps you in the great city haven't noticed it in the rush of more important things like the political crisis (if any) and the August blues. Yes, there is a quality in it which many able observers have noted before (among them Keats and this column regularly every September). There is a blueness about the sky, with little white, fluffy clouds tumbling about it, a clearness in the air which lets you see the mountains up Cowichan way, and a curious something in the wind which, made of the acid smell of pine needles, the sweet smell of burning birch boughs far away, the dry, parched smell of the silent forest floor after a year of growth and the rich brown smell which is September itself.

ALL THIS, I dare say, is rather mixed up for your ideas on September are likely to be confused when you are trying all at once to write them down to watch the little girl from next door in swimming and to fight off the little boy from next door who, just able to walk, persists in lunging at your typewriter with his two clenched fists. The little girl from next door at the moment is "playing ostrich" in the water there, which is a jolly game. Should you wish to try it, just stand in the lake, bend double and keep your head under water as long as you can, and if you have a striped blue bathing suit like the little girl's, with several holes in a prominent part you will look exactly like an ostrich, except for the mere absence of a few plumes in the place where the holes are. And as for the little boy, the more I fight him off, the more I deposit him at a safe distance, the more I slap his fingers, the more he lunges at my typewriter, the more he sees with laughter, knowing quite well that this is a game invented especially for him.

AND YOU know what has happened up here at our house? asks the little girl from next door, sitting down on the steps and dripping a great pool of water from her bathing suit. "Well, every night after we have gone to bed at our house somebody slips through the house, flippy-flop, flippy-flop, very sneaky and wussy. My mummy says it is a burglar what has come to burgle us, but when she yells out loud and clear, he doesn't say anything, but walks right down our verandah, flippy-flop, flippy-flop as loud as you please. This makes us awfully scared, so I and my baby brother we hide our heads right under the clothes so we can't hear the steps on the verandah and we listen awfully hard. And when my mummy rush out of bed to see what the burglar is burgle she can't find him. She say she will get the police soon. And every morning there is those footprints on the verandah just before it begins to get light. I guess that's pretty bad, eh?"

YES, I SAID, "that's pretty bad, I guess." "Well," she said, "there's more of it. What'd you s'pose?" This morning when the steps came down the verandah my mummy jumped right out of bed and rushed out with a flash light and she say "Who's there?" But no one said anything, and then she began laughing. "Cause what'd you s'pose?" My mummy found the old grouse walking up and down the verandah flippy-flop, flippy-flop, that same old grouse what has been round here all summer. So we're not 'fraid of burglars any more now and we won't need the police, I guess. My mummy she say you can't put a grouse in jail."

I HAVE LISTENED to all that and given up trying to finish this column in despair. Instead I have spent the time shaving. I don't suppose you will see anything notable in this. I don't suppose you will understand what I am about to tell you. I question that you have ever really shaved in your life. I admit you may have applied lather to your face and scraped your skin with a razor. I am willing to concede that you have no beard. But probably you have never shaved in the high spirit sense. To shave in this sense, to really shave at all, you should go at least three days without applying a razor to your face, and in that interval you should stride manfully into the woods and swing an axe until you are covered with pitch, until you smell like a pine tree, until your chin feels like a pin cushion. Then you must take your shaving soap and your razor into the open air—it must be the open air in September with a wind blowing down the lake full of September smells—you must stand a broken piece of mirror against a post—it must be broken and not more than four square inches in area—and you must lather as a man in the city never lathers, leisurely, with slow steady stroke until you have worked up enough lather to shave the ample jaws of the entire legislature.

THE PROCEEDING which passes for shaving in the city is a miserable, hasty affair which usually spoils the whole day, but a real shave, as nature intended, produces a strange, unearthly calm until you want to go on lathering forever while the little girl from next door rattles on (she says, when she grows up, she will grow a beard of pink and green) and her bathing suit drips great pools upon the verandah and the wind blows down the lake, heavily with the smell of September. Even you miss an outer fringe of whisker because your broken glass is too small to reveal it, still, you have a curious uplifted feeling of reform, as if your lather had washed away all your sins and had razed and razed all worldlyness in the bud. Whereas they would only removed a few of the worst patches of pitch and nicked you in a few places, and filled the rest of the afternoon when you were supposed to be filling this column.

A CORRECTION

To the Editor:—In the sentence: "Whom the medical world deems unfit," the word "deems" was used instead of "is." It is rather unfortunate that the meaning of the letter was meant to convey, although in another way appropriate; for if the medical world would do a little more dreaming, rather than too much dreaming, they would more often arrive at the cause before they commenced treatment for the effect produced by the unseen cause. Thanking you, Mr. Editor, in anticipation of the insertion of this, and for past favors.

WATCH THE ACCUSED

To the Editor:—If the government receives encouragement from the public it may scoff at the most important recommendations of the Kidd report. It may treat the revelations of gross extravagance and pernicious patronage as lightly as it treated the McGough charges by publishing a note from the Ontario General Controller stating that all those expenditures have been audited.

The report proves conclusively that the government was never engaged in good business management of the affairs of British Columbia. From first to last, as the records reveal, this government has played the part of a good fellow regardless of the future. And now the chief concern is self-preservation. The only recommendation that is sure to receive earnest consideration from such a government is the drastic curtailment of expenditures to stop the party warfare of exposing the despicable tricks of each other, in order that a coalition may be formed. The Kidd report has been a disappointing document to many of us. Some of us have felt that a committee of business men who were free from those influences which hamper men in public life, might have dealt with the situation more vigorously and perhaps, more courageously. Many good citizens are now engaged in raising public opposition to the proposals to make drastic curtailments in social services. Their anxious activity is unnecessary. Such proposals are not practical politics, and for at least thirty years, practical politics has invariably prevailed over every principle in the Legislature of British Columbia. None of us will endorse every item in the Kidd report, but all decent people will support the revelations of the Kidd committee, demand for better government. We are not dealing with a pack of politicians who hope to retain their seats by playing on every impulse of the crowd. They are the men who, instead of gathering in serious conference to find means to alleviate distress, have spent weeks in the Legislature striving for every petty and hide their misdeeds. They are anxiously watching public opinion. And it is of the utmost importance that they should understand that an overwhelming majority of the voters are sick of trickery, and that the change from the spoils and patronage system to honest business management must be made without delay.

A FOREST PROCLAMATION

To the Editor:—On completing a twelve-day tour of forest examination in Nova Scotia covering the counties of Antigonish, Digby, Kings, Hants, Halifax, Guysboro, Richmond and Victoria, I am appalled at the ravages that have taken place in the wooded areas of these counties, through unregulated, wasteful cutting and insect pests. As one intelligent farmer of Guysboro said to me: "The pulpwood operators have come and gone, have stripped our country and we have nothing left to show for it." To make matters worse there are thousands of cords of pulpwood lying rotting along the shores, in the woods and on the highways. The price being paid for wood do not give the farmer even pay for his labor and in cases where he is forced to sell his wood he is forced to allow to rot all of it, and he has lost pay for his time as well as his trees, which in many instances have taken 100 years or more to grow. In addition to all of this, and caused by this wasteful, useless stripping of our forested areas, our brooks and streams are rapidly drying up, and were never lower than they are to-day, despite the fact that we have had a fair amount of rain this season.

These conditions are perfectly apparent to all, and apply right across Canada, my attention being directed to them by almost everyone with whom I conversed on the subject during the entire trip. I ask in all seriousness what is to be done of this fishing, hunting, our wells, water supplies, water powers and scenery and even our agriculture if this wicked waste is allowed to continue unchecked and unregulated?

I found very many farms from which the last cord of pulpwood had been cut and many others where the supply was almost exhausted. I found long stretches of farms where their last cord of hardwood had been cut, the owners of which being forced to burn soft wood for fuel.

I have pleaded with our governments year in and year out to reduce the amount of the cut on all crown lands in order to prevent such a wasteful glut of pulpwood, so that at least the farmer may have an opportunity to sell his wood at home and receive a living wage for his labor. This pulpwood cutting has been so reckless that in many instances the operators have been exceeding the limit of their own bounds and have stolen thousands of cords of wood belonging to me, and I want to serve notice on all of these trespassers that they will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law for all past or future trespassing. I am not saving these trees for myself, but in the interest of every man, woman and child in the country. No one else seems willing to save any forested areas for posterity and their own good as well, and I am determined to at least preserve what forests I own for the good of humanity. With this object in view I have, as recently announced in the press, transferred all of my personal timber lands in this province to the Barnjum Forest Foundation in British Columbia.

All money collected for trespassing will be devoted to reforestation in order to at least attempt to repair a fractional part of the damage that has been done.

In a few short years after everyone else has cut down their trees the people living in the vicinity of the forests that I have saved will have at least one forest left to save sufficient forest in order to prevent their farms from becoming a desert waste.

REPLY THIS WEEK ON KIDD REPORT

Government's Views Will Be Given After Each Paragraph

No statement by the government in reply to the Kidd committee findings, will be issued before Thursday or Friday, it was stated by Premier S. F. Tolmie this morning. By that time Hon. J. W. Jones, Minister of Finance, who is in Calgary attending the meeting of western provinces with Premier Bennett on unemployment, will have returned to Victoria and a full council with the exception of Hon. William Aikman, Minister of Agriculture, will be present.

It is understood the government's reply will follow each paragraph of the report and be in blackface type. As in the case of the Kidd report, parts of it already have been issued unofficially and show a disposition on the part of each department to challenge the accuracy of the Kidd committee report.

CLUBMEN HEAR FINE ARTIST

With masterly piano renditions of Rachmaninoff's "Russian Dance," Padrevski's "Eude Symphonique" and Eugene D'Albert's "Gavotte," Walter Buxbaum, young Austrian concert player and teacher, entertained members of the Kavanis Club at their luncheon in the Empress Hotel yesterday. His numbers were received with great appreciation and had done much to introduce the artist, W. Ellis Brown spoke of the phenomenal ability shown by Mr. Buxbaum as a child. At the age of five he had played before the public and had done concert work when twelve. By the time he was sixteen, the artist had been teaching the more advanced pupils difficult work, he said.

Rev. E. P. Church thanked the pianist for his excellent selections, remarking he was a worthy pupil of his great teacher Hoffmann.

From The Times Files

"In a comparatively few years the Canadian Northern Railway has developed from a venture of minor degree into an enterprise of almost transcontinental extent," said D. D. Mann, vice-president of the railroad in an interview here to-day.

J. H. Turner, who is making a brief stay here after six years' residence as Agent-General in London, is contemplating an extended tour of the province before returning, so that he may be better informed as to conditions obtaining in British Columbia with respect to his official duties.

An exclusive news dispatch to The Times from Ladysmith states that a munitions boom in the coal-mining industry of the island may confidently be regarded as a certainty. Two main causes have contributed to bring about this unrivalled activity in the staple industry of the island. The first of these is the unprecedented boom in the trade itself. The second contributing cause is the decision of the Privy Council in the Settlers' Rights question.

J. F. Babcock, provincial commissioner of fisheries, left town yesterday for a trip to the best waters of the Fraser. There he will inspect and prepare a report on the run of fish that got past the nets and traps of the fishermen.

Weather forecast—Victoria and vicinity—Light to moderate northerly winds, fine to-day and Sunday, with higher temperatures.

SPECIAL RACE MEET REFUSED

Attorney-General Pooley announced yesterday that the government could not permit the holding of a special three-day horse race meet at the Willow track, as sought by a delegation of unemployed who approached officials with this end in view. The unemployed submitted a proposal under which they would receive a proportion of the profits for relief. The Attorney-General said the Willow had raced its allotted seven days and could not be permitted further racing under existing regulations.

OUT OUR WAY

—By WILLIAMS

Mona noticed that the stranger was a man with a slightly military erectness and that he was regarding her as he flicked ashes from his cigar into a tray. For an instant his eyes met Mona's. Swiftly the girl looked away and again considered her teacup.

As she rose to leave she glanced toward Mr. Garretson, who bowed, as "Well think I'm extravagant," Mona thought with alarm. Hurrying away, she had the uncomfortable feeling that the two men were discussing her. She didn't want Mr. Garretson to think she was money-to-day of all days!

For Mona had decided to ask for an advance with which to finance her father's treatment. She would, of course, approach Mr. Garretson about it. It had been Mr. Garretson who had hired her, arranged her work, and given her frequent raises in salary.

At five o'clock Mona took the subway and rode to the hospital, reflecting that this was the first evening in a long while that she had not made the trip in Steve's car.

At a corner shop she bought tobacco and oranges, and selected some cartoon booklets for her father who was an enthusiastic admirer of Mickey Mouse.

Following the stiffly starched nurse into the doctor's office Mona's heart grew lighter. With dad well once more she would be much happier. Kitty was doing well at school. Ma had felt better lately, too. There was only the problem of raising the money for her father's treatment.

Steve might loan her the amount, Mona reflected. But no—she couldn't ask him for it. She had taken such pains to make clear to Steve just what she could accept from him and what she could not.

Mona recalled one of Lottie's axioms concerning men. "They'll spend a fortune on you for things you don't need or even care about. Oh—the lobster Newberg I've eaten when I needed shoes! The orchids I've worn when I was wondering how to pay the rent! Whenever you really need something you can count men out."

She remembered that once when one of the girls had been in urgent need of money Lottie had conducted a sale and many of her friends had generously thrown in various treasures. Lottie as auctioneer, glid of tongue and generous herself, had rapidly raised the required sum.

Mona, however, had nothing to sell. The ermine coat might have brought $500 but it had been returned to Pilgrim's the day after its arrival. She had declined the diamond necklace. No—there was no way except to ask her employer for an advance.

Dr. Dean, a slender, blond young man of earnest mien, looked up as she entered his office. The doctor's air was preoccupied and important. He had just come from a conference, he said, at which her father's case had been discussed. Dr. Fredericks, the well known specialist, had been present and had agreed with the other doctor's findings. The radium treatment was not only advisable but essential.

these on the table near his bed so he will see them the moment he awakens. "And tell him I'll be back to see him in a few days, won't you?" Mona said. "Give him my love."

Miss Polsoni agreed and returned to her. Why in the name of heaven, she wondered, did a girl as pretty as that one continue to remain "Miss Moran?"

CHAPTER XXI

Mona arrived at the office next morning with the determination to approach Mr. Garretson in the matter of the loan. At $5 a week saved from her next advance she could repay the amount in a little over two years. Within two years she could expect two increases in salary. Turning these to the repayment of her debt, she would be as well off as at present. Better, of course, with dad well again at home.

She had made up her mind quite completely to forget Barry Townsend. Barry was engaged to Genevieve Dower. Genevieve Dower, who knew the same people he knew, who was photographed at Palm Beach and Piping Rock, who had been "presented" at Pierre's.

Barry was engaged and his pretty speeches to Mona had meant nothing whatever except a manner of passing away the time. Mona cautiously approached Mollie Drury to ask Mr. Garretson's plans for the day.

"Want to see him in a good mood, do you?" repeated Mollie. "What do you want—the Empire State Building?" Mr. Garretson's alacrity to make the path smooth for Miss Moran was no sore point with Mollie nor was it a secret. Mona had received several raises since Mollie had but the private secretary's initial salary had been much larger.

"I'm going to ask a favor," Mona replied. Mollie observed, "Sure, he'll do it. All you have to do is tell him what it is!"

"Mr. Garretson may not want to do this, though," Mona added, not in the least ruffled by the slightly caustic note in the other girl's voice. "Is it a big favor?"

"Sure. If the boss isn't turning handsprings or looking like the cat that swallowed the canary I'll let you know."

Mona thanked her. "And if it's all right try to make an appointment for me, will you, Mollie? I'll do something for you some day."

Eleven o'clock and Mr. Garretson arrived simultaneously. The lawyer seemed, moreover, to be in the best of moods. Grey haired, tall and trimly built, he was a truly distinguished looking man.

He set to work immediately. Half a dozen telephone calls, an argument with a friend over which golfer had beaten the other, letters hurried plans for the afternoon's appointments and then he paused, looking pensive. He placed his finger tips together and, without glancing toward Mollie, asked her abruptly to send in Miss Moran.

RUDY VALLEE

DIVORCE OFF

Crooner's Actress Wife at Reno Admits It Was All a Mistake

Reno, Sept. 7.—There will be no divorce for the Rudy Vallees, the former Pay Webb, actress wife of the crooning radio singer, said here this morning. "It was all a mistake," Mrs. Valle told the Associated Press.

"I love my husband and always have loved him. I am leaving at noon for Santa Monica, and will join Rudy later in New York. I am so happy."

This surprising turn in the marital affairs of the dance band leaders came as Mrs. Valle was believed to be preparing to establish divorce residence here.

A sudden realization that her separation from Valle was all the result of a "childish and foolish quarrel," coupled with a midnight telephone conversation with the radio singer in Atlantic City, was responsible for the change in the plans.

"I know now I was just a little fool to even think of a divorce," Mrs. Valle confessed.

Rudy never wanted one, although he was just a perfect dear and told me that if I thought a divorce was best, why that was what I should get, but I was wrong and we love each other more than ever now. We both admitted that last night."

The former Miss Dorothy Crump was married to Mr. Ross on Saturday evening at St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay.

Countess Attends Navy League W.A. Birthday

Colors Presented by Her Excellency at Delightful Affair at "Windyside" Yesterday; Mrs. Victor Brodeur Formally Opens Fete and Congratulates Navy League and Sea Cadets on Their Work

By a happy coincidence, the fourth birthday of the Women's Auxiliary to the Victoria Branch of the Navy League of Canada synchronized with the first visit to this city of Their Excellencies the Governor-General and the Countess Bessborough and at the celebration held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. Hebbden Gillespie, the Countess was honored by the presence of the charming chateleine from Rideau Hall.

OPENED BY MRS. V. BRODEUR
Mrs. Victor Brodeur, wife of the Commander-in-Charge of the Esquimalt Naval Station, officially opened the garden party immediately following the salute of the guard of honor from the Rainbow Sea Cadets which was taken by Commander F. A. Lindsay, president of the Navy League. Mrs. Brodeur then inspected the force which was drawn up in full numbers upon the broad lawn of the lower garden, the bugle band under Bandmaster Drysdale and the entire corps presenting a trim and pleasing appearance upon which Mrs. Brodeur congratulated Lieut. Tribe and Sub-Lieut. Henry, in charge. At the conclusion of the inspection Cadet-Bugler Drysdale presented Mrs. Brodeur with a lovely basket of gladioli and delphinium, and in acknowledging the gift in a graceful little address she expressed her pleasure at thus identifying herself with the Navy League movement, a movement which, she said, her husband, as a naval officer, held in the highest estimation.

COLORS PRESENTED
At 4 o'clock the Countess Bessborough arrived, accompanied by Mrs. J. W. Fordham Johnson, Lieut. D. J. Fuller, R.N., and Major Walter Bapty. Her Excellency was received by Mrs. P. F. Curtis, W.A. president, Mrs. J. Hebbden Gillespie, Mrs. H. W. Hotham, first vice-president, Mrs. L. A. Lucas, second vice-president, Mrs. G. Kirkendale, secretary, Mrs. B. H. T. Drake, and Mrs. Lindsay, proceeding to the centre of the lawn Her Excellency was accompanied by Lieut. Henry and knighted by Mrs. Gillespie to hand the colors to the Countess Bessborough who in turn conferred them upon a representative of the Junior Auxiliary, Miss Audrey Wood, chosen standard-bearer, in a dignified little ceremony. Mrs. Wood was escorted by P.O. Cadets Kirkendale and Edey-Canavan. In the presence of Lieut. Henry and knighted to receive the colors which Her Excellency charged her stood for the highest degrees of chivalry, loyalty, and patriotism. Lady Bessborough observed it was her first contact with the Navy League of Canada, of which she was patroness, and her first inspection of Sea Cadets, and she warmly complimented the boys on their smart appearance and the league upon its excellent work.

A unique feature of the ceremony was the presentation of warrants of promotion to Lieut. P. W. Tribe of the Sea Cadets, who received the rank of Lieutenant-Commander, and to Sub-Lieut. Henry the rank of Lieutenant. These warrants had been signed by the Governor-General at Ottawa recently and arrived at this opportune moment for presentation yesterday.

CUTS BIRTHDAY CAKE
Little Beverly Findler and Beverly Francis presented Her Excellency with lovely flowers, and she was conducted to the summer house in front of which the Auxiliary's birthday cake, artistically decorated with red, white, and blue icing, tiny flags, and miniature figures of Sea Cadets and ships with many little flags and four tall blue candles was displayed. Lieut.-Commander Tribe's sword was used by the distinguished visitor in cutting the cake, and Mrs. Lucas asked her acceptance of one of the tiny favors, a miniature sea cadet, for the little son, which was graciously received.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily's Thorn Bush

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Uncle Wiggily, like all rabbits and such other timid animals as must needs fear larger and stronger creatures, had a number of hiding places out in the woods and fields. Though Mr. Longears lived in a jolly hollow stump bungalow, when he went adventuring he seldom hopped far from some place where he could hide in case any of the Bad Chaps chased him, which often happened.

"Yes, I have a number of cubbyholes, as I call them," Uncle Wiggily said one day to Mr. Twistytail, the fat pig gentleman with whom he was taking a walk. "As soon as the Fox, the Wolf or the Bob Cat, with his silly little tail, start to chase me, I run to my nearest cubbyhole and hide there until it is safe to come out."

"That's a good idea," wheezed the pig. "But I'd need a very large cubbyhole to hide in, I guess."

"Indeed you would," chuckled Uncle Wiggily. "You are so fat."

"I can't seem to get thin," grunted the pig. "I suppose it's because I'm so fond of eating. I never can seem to get enough. But there's one thing about me. I'm no big and fat that none of the Bad Chaps bother to chase me, so I don't need cubbyholes to hide in."

"That's where you're lucky," said Uncle Wiggily with a sigh. "Why, some days I do nothing but pop in and out of my cubbyholes to keep away from the Bad Chaps."

"I'd like to see how you do it," grunted Mr. Twistytail.

"Nothing is easier," spoke Mr. Longears. "We are now on a path in the woods," he added. "I have a hiding place near here."

"Then," said the pig, eagerly, "let's pretend I'm the Fox. I'll make-believe chase you."

"And I'll hide from you in my nearest cubbyhole," laughed Mr. Longears.

"Have you a hiding place near here?" asked the pig.

"That's a secret," chuckled the rabbit. "But go on. Pretend to chase me and I'll show you what I do."

"All right. Here I come!" loudly grunted the pig. "I'm the Fox. I'm the Wolf. I'm the Bob Cat!" he yelled. "Well, your tail is as little as the Bob Cat's, but it isn't quite so silly," spoke the bunny uncle. "All right. Chase me!"

Mr. Twistytail, pretending to be all three Bad Chaps made into one, ran down the path after the rabbit. But Uncle Wiggily knew what to do even if this was only a game. Quickly the rabbit gentleman began to hop toward where, beneath a sassafras bush some weeks before he had dug himself a hiding place, a burrow in the soft earth.

No sooner did Mr. Twistytail start to chase him, than Uncle Wiggily, like a flash of lightning, ran down into his cubbyhole and so quickly that the pig never saw which way he went. All Mr. Twistytail knew was that Uncle Wiggily was gone.

"Well, that was clever!" grunted the fat pig, looking around but seeing no rabbit. "Where are you, Wiggy? Come out!" he called.

"Well, I'll come out now, for you aren't really a Bad Chap," laughed the bunny gentleman as he bobbed up out of the hole beneath the sassafras bush. "But if you had been the Fox I'd have stayed hidden until you went away."

"Very clever! Very clever!" panted the pig, for being fat, he easily got out of breath when he ran. "Have you any more cubbyholes?"

"Yes, there's one over there," and Uncle Wiggily pointed his paw.

"You don't mean that scratchy thorn bush, do you?" asked the pig.

"Yes, I do," said Mr. Longears. "The thorn bush is only scratchy and prickly on top. Under it I have a very good hiding place and even if the Bad Chap happened to see me they couldn't get me. The thorns would stick them."

"I'd like to see that," happened grunted the pig.

"Well, I think you're going to very soon!" whispered the rabbit. "Here comes the Fox. He's seen me and he won't bother you. Watch me fool him!" Suddenly the Fox rushed up barking:

"I'll get you! I'll get you!"

"Oh, will you? Well, let's see about that!" chuckled Mr. Longears.

Folding back his long ears and sticking his little tail straight up in the air, the bunny gentleman ran fast and straight for the thorn bush. But instead of jumping into the bush, as did the wondrous wise man, Mr. Longears made a dive for his cubbyhole beneath it in the earth.

Up came the Fox, running fast. He ran so fast that he couldn't stop when he got to the thorn bush, but into it he plopped. The thorns stuck him and pricked him and held him fast so he couldn't get loose and then Uncle Wiggily ran out, laughing and went on walking with Mr. Twistytail. And the fat pig laughed too. So it all happened for the best. And if the fat pig will stop jumping out of the hammock to tickle the nose of bacon, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the golf ball.

I.O.D.E. Reception For Countess Bessborough

Mrs. W. Curtis Sampson, Provincial President, Hostess at "Molton Combe" Yesterday Afternoon; Her Excellency Congratulates Order on Splendid War and Peace-time Work; Delighted With West

"Members of your Order at Halifax were among the first to welcome me on my arrival in Canada. Your motto stands for everything that is great in the Empire and His Excellency is as interested in your work as I am. I know of your wonderful war record and of the great peace-time work you are doing along educational lines, and I wish you, from the bottom of my heart, every success in your endeavors. In spite of all the glowing reports of the west we received from our son, we have found it even lovelier than we anticipated. Everywhere we have been received with the warmest of welcomes and I can only say that, since making this Dominion-wide tour, I am prouder than ever of being French by birth, English by marriage, and of having a Canadian-born son."

With this charming little address the Countess of Bessborough acknowledged the greetings of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, as tendered on behalf of the Provincial Chapter by Mrs. W. Curtis Sampson, Mrs. Albert F. Griffiths, Mrs. C. P. Hill, Mrs. F. E. Corby, Miss A. B. Cooke and Miss Gladys Hindmarsh, the provincial standard bearer.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

IT IS NOW OPEN SEASON ON COD LIVER OIL

We are now entering the month beginning which cod liver oil becomes a three-times-a-day rite for the child from two months to two years, and beyond if the doctor so indicates.

During the summer months there was no need for cod liver oil. Those mothers who wrote me saying they were giving it invariably mentioned some disturbance for which they wanted correction, most of these being hatched rather noticeably to the cod liver oil.

I've been saying, "No cod liver oil" all summer; now I shall have to turn about and say, "What about cod liver oil? Is your baby having it every day? Let us hope he is."

WHAT IS RICKETS?

Cod liver oil is used as a preventive of rickets. Rickets is a nutritional disease to which the child is susceptible when his diet lacks the proper food elements or he is deprived of sufficient sunlight during the winter months. Acting on baby's bare skin, the sunlight manufactures its own vitamin D properly, the same property provided in the diet by cod liver oil or the vosterol. Then sunlight on bare skin is impossible because of the temperature, we have to resort to vitamin D in other forms.

Incidentally, the mother who is confused about the difference between cod liver oil and vosterols will benefit by having my leaflet called, "Cod Liver Oil and the Vosterols." A self-addressed, stamped envelope should be enclosed with your request and sent to me in care of this newspaper.

SYMPTOMS

The symptoms of rickets are many and varied. They arise because, lacking vitamin D through diet or sunlight, the child is unable to make the best possible use of minerals in the diet; and consequently the bones and teeth and nervous system suffer from this lack. Babies who are restless and irritable for no apparent cause, whose heads sweat profusely when clothing could be in any way responsible, older children whose long leg bones are bent either out or in so that bowlegs and knock knees result are all showing evidences of these rachitic tendencies.

Teeth suffer when the child has rickets. They may be exceptionally late in appearing and the baby may exhibit unusual disturbances during their eruption, such as high fevers and convulsions. Teething is only secondarily at fault. Primarily the diet and the deprivation of calcium in the system are what need correction. A critical observation of every aspect of the diet, and a comparison with good standard diet lists and standard formulas is needed to determine in what way the diet can be improved and corrected.

FOR WINTER FARE

Plain, tested cod liver oil is begun in very small doses for the young baby, and increased to two or three teaspoonsful daily for the child up to two years of age. Vosterols should be recommended and dosages advised by the doctor.

It is not vitally important that a mother know how the cure of rickets is brought about by cod liver oil. But it is essential for her to know that in winter even a good diet cannot be counted upon to furnish the insurance against rickets unless she includes also these daily doses of cod liver oil. To-morrow, "Safety of Child Is Parents' Responsibility."

Pioneer Woman Journalist Dies

Toronto, Sept. 7.—Pioneer Canadian newspaperwoman, Mrs. C. H. J. Snider, wife of the associate editor of The Toronto Evening Telegram, died at her home here yesterday after an illness of many months.

She was known to many as "Happiness," a name given to her by the late Col. George Ham when the Canadian Women's Press Association was formed in 1904. One of the original members of the Toronto Women's Press Club, she was twice its president. She started newspaper work with The Toronto Telegram in 1901 and, before women's pages were thought of, conducted column on "Market Hints."

Millinery Success for Fall, 1932

Sketched in Paris

Here are some of the smart new styles as represented in our opening displays to-morrow, Friday and Saturday.

A Forward Movement

Forward come the new shallow crown Hats for fall, set straighter on the head and showing more back hair. Forward, too, comes the trimming. Stunning styles—but, because there are few extremes—easy to wear. Many are the new versions of the Sailor Hat, the Cloche, the Turban and the Cuff Hat—widely varied are the colors, including medieval browns, beet root, Burgundy, Bordeaux and Bagdad green, black being perhaps the most important of all. While felt is the favorite, crush velvets and wool fabrics take no small part in these opening displays.

A Feature Value for Thursday

You'll be delighted with the stunning styles shown in this group. There are turbans and all the new brimmed types so fashionable this fall—all high-grade Hats for town, country and the now very important tea hour.

Old Country Cricket

London, Sept. 7.—Rain interfered with the match between an eleven selected by the M.C.C. from the winter and H. D. Leveson-Gower's eleven at Scarborough, the match finally being declared drawn. Leveson-Gower's side scored 200 and 122 for five wickets, declared their opponents replying with 185 and 90 for four.

Townsend and Hendren in a fourth wicket partnership defined the attack, adding 62 in forty-five minutes and were not separated when the innings was declared with the score at 133 for five wickets. Larwood was the only bowler to meet with any success, taking three wickets for 30 runs. Tate, Verity, Brown and Voce, all stars on the team to go to the Antipodes, bowled 25 overs between them but failed to capture a wicket.

An England eleven defeated the all-India touring team by an innings and 40 runs. The former scored 262 runs for five wickets declared, the tourists replying with 165 and 77. Freeman took four Indian wickets for 75 in the first innings and four for 39 in the second.

DOMINION THEATRE

Hollywood costumes make little money on the Four Marx Brothers.

It has been six years since three of the four comedians, currently to be seen in "Horse Feathers," at the Dominion Theatre, have had a wardrobe change for stage or screen purposes.

In all that time Groucho, Chico and Harpo have used the same general outfits, though they have adopted changes in shoes and a new shirt when "Horse Feathers" the attraction at the Playhouse Theatre, might have been a first-class bull fighter, pinning festive darts into snorting bovines. Coming from a distinguished family of matadors, Boland would have followed in the paternal footsteps eventually but for the opportunity Miss Talmadge gave him when she made "Camille" three years ago.

A production staff of seventy-five people was sent to California from Hollywood for an entire week. The winter racing season was in full swing, and scenes of the Agua Caliente Handicap, the "world's richest race" were photographed. This race has a gross value of approximately $140,000, with a guarantee of not less than $100,000 to the winner.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE

Had not the lure of the movies intervened, Gilbert Roland, who plays opposite Norma Talmadge in "New York Nights," the attraction at the Playhouse Theatre, might have been a first-class bull fighter, pinning festive darts into snorting bovines. Coming from a distinguished family of matadors, Boland would have followed in the paternal footsteps eventually but for the opportunity Miss Talmadge gave him when she made "Camille" three years ago.

CAPITOL THEATRE

The foreign atmosphere of holiday gaiety and beauty that makes Agua Caliente comparable only to Europe's Deauville, is brought to the motion picture screen in "Fast Companions," stirring story of a race track jockey and his regenerative ragmuffin pal.

For the sequences at the Agua Caliente Handicap shown on the screen of the Capitol Theatre to-day "Fast Companions" are authentic scenes of the famous resort, photographed on a gala day.

A production staff of seventy-five people was sent to California from Hollywood for an entire week. The winter racing season was in full swing, and scenes of the Agua Caliente Handicap, the "world's richest race" were photographed. This race has a gross value of approximately $140,000, with a guarantee of not less than $100,000 to the winner.

EMPIRE THEATRE

Aspiring writers of detective fiction will have opportunity to study the fundamentals of the craft at "The Sign of 4" being shown at the Empire Theatre to-day.

This new picture brings to the screen one of the most expert of the Conan Doyle stories—and the Conan Doyle technique right now is held up as a standard for detective fiction by a new organization of literary gentlemen in London, according to recent advice via cable and the fast mails.

The organization, known as "The Detection Club," and numbering among its members a figure of no less bulk than G. K. Chesterton, has written the book of rules to which detection yarns must subscribe, or else—they are not true detection stories.

Although he has been in the theatre since he was twelve years old, Wallace Ford, playing a featured part in Tiffany's Productions "X Marks the Spot," has appeared in only two pictures.

Lew Cody has the leading role as managing editor of a sensational newspaper for which Ford serves as a reporter.

Attempt to Reorganize Pro Hockey on Prairies This Year

Five-team Circuit Planned; Lots of Players Are Available

Italians and Spaniards Make Successful Golfers in U.S.

Plans are now under way to reorganize professional hockey on the prairies with a five-team circuit. Efforts are now well advanced towards the formation of the league with clubs in Calgary, Edmonton, Saskatoon, Regina and Moose Jaw. Lloyd Turner, famous Calgary hockey mogul, and "Duke" Keate, former star member of the Edmonton Eskimos in the former Western Canada Hockey League, are the two men behind the new group. Edmonton, Calgary, Saskatoon and Regina are expected to be ready to enter clubs, while Moose Jaw are getting things whipped into shape.

None of the five teams anticipate any difficulty securing players. With the disbandment of the American League, and the number of unemployed pro players now on the prairies, together with amateurs anxious to break into pro ranks, there will be enough to fill the requirements of the five teams. Joe Garbutt, one of the owners of the Saskatoon franchise in the W.C.H.L., is sponsoring the team in that city, while Wes Champ is interested in the Regina club.

One of the highlights of golf in the United States is the great number of Italians and Spaniards who have fought their way to the top. Some fifteen years ago a young chap by the name of Eugenio Saraceni was a caddy around New York. As you have probably guessed, that caddy is today known as Gene Sarazen.

Sarazen is the son of Italian immigrants who had been in America only a year before his birth at Harrison, N.Y. Fifteen years ago Sarazen's status was just the same as hundreds of other caddies. Gene's father, a contractor, had lost a great deal of money on contracts he had entered into before the war which sent prices of materials and wages for labor soaring.

After his father's death, Sarazen went to the Brooklyn golf course and practice until darkness forced him to stop. At fifteen, Gene was stricken with pneumonia. After he had begun to recover, doctors advised him to find outdoor occupation. So he got a job as caddy at Brooklawn and his golfing career started.

As a golfer, he was much like the young caddies of today. He broke ninety consistently. Sarazen won the United States Open championship five years after he had taken a regular job as caddy.

It used to be a popular belief that British and Scottish people excelled at golf because of their physical characteristics. The game seemed particularly suited to cold and canny natures. Yet, in the United States we find the warm and impulsive Spaniards and Italian stock are especially successful at the pastime.

Golf plays a handicap upon hot temper, yet few seem to realize this. It is without much trouble that many of the leading professionals in the United States—the Dutras, Espinozas, Turners, Jurados, Maneros, etc.—seem to find their Latin temperament no hindrance.

Two people named Bill happen to form the best second-best combination in the major ball leagues in this writing. The last names are Jurgens and Herman.

The top prize for the Schmeling-Walker fight will be $10 and it will be twice as good a fight as the Schmeling-Sharkey thing for which the top was $20. Which shows what a difference there can be in cauliflower values.

Does anybody remember away back last winter when there was quite a bit of serious talk about the Chicago Cubs trading Charlie Grimm?

Tim Mara, the gent who sued Gene Tunney for a lot of money, lost nearly $5,000 promoting the McLarnin-Brouillard fight.

Monthly Tourney At Oak Bay Course

At the Victoria Golf Club on Sunday the first of a series of six men's monthly competitions will be staged. The competition will be eighteen holes medal play under handicap. Competitors will arrange for their own opponents and starting times. Post entries will be accepted. The competitions will alternate medal and match play. At the end of the series the six winners will play off for a prize.

Daily Double Pays $3,489.50 In East

Montreal, Sept. 7.—The daily double at the Blue Bonnets track yesterday paid one man $3,489.50, the largest ever returned on a $2 ticket at this track. It was believed also to be the largest price ever paid by a double at any North American track.

Parrott and Horder Go Into Lead After Night of Scrambling

Local Boy and His Australian Partner Pilfer Five Laps to Gain Front Position in Vancouver Six-day Event; "Stonewall" Jackson and Freddie Zach Tied for Second Place One Point Behind; Series of Punctures Hold Back Peden and Rush; Latter Are Leading in Points

Vancouver, Sept. 7.—Grabbing off five laps in an hour of nerve-rattling jamming yesterday evening, "Polly" Parrott, hard-riding Victoria pedal artist, and Horace Horder, the Australian, jumped into the lead in Billy Spencer's international six-day bike race at the Arena, displacing the Victoria-Switzerland combination of "Stonewall" Jackson and Freddie Zach. The latter pair could pilfer only three laps during this pedal-twisting orgy and lost a one-lap advantage gained during the afternoon.

LOCAL GOLFERS WIN AT JASPER

Mr. and Mrs. Sayward-Wilson and Miss Fitz-Gibbon Advance in Totem Pole

Jasper Park Lodge, Alta., Sept. 7.—In the first round of match play for the silver tottem pole championship here yesterday the favorites advanced a step without any upsets, and from now on it looks as if a stiff pace will be kept right through to the final on Saturday morning.

Of the sixteen places left in this flight eleven are occupied by Canadians, three by United States players one from Havana and the other from Ireland. The colors of the Royal Portrush Golf Club in Northern Ireland, carried by Major G. N. C. Martin, whose steady stroking defeated J. H. Nicholl, Victoria. Major Martin is one of the fabled finalists who has a vast experience at the match play game. From Havana comes M. A. Pollack Jr., who advanced handily over W. L. Alexander, Winnipeg. Pollack is a very steady player, with good length and accuracy.

United States players from the Pacific Coast are L. R. Phillips, Santa Barbara; Dr. Otto Wright, Portland, Ore.; L. S. Smith, Seattle. Vancouver has six players, represented by Willard, Hamilton, O'Neill, Schwengers, Jukes and Lowrie. F. Sayward-Wilson, Victoria, is still in the winning.

Play yesterday was under ideal conditions. To-day Major Martin meets Phillips, who is fast beginning to find the speed of the greens. Willard meets Sayward-Wilson, with another fine match in sight between O'Neill and Pollack.

VICTORIANS WIN
In the women's championship Mrs. J. Starkey, Edmonton, the medalist, defeated Mrs. Crichton, Saskatoon champion, 3 and 1. Miss Lois McLaren, Winnipeg, defeated Mrs. Barber, Chilliwack, on the seventeenth. Miss Walker, Vancouver, defeated Mrs. Forgie, Pembroke. Mrs. Sayward-Wilson, Victoria, beat Mrs. Perry, Edmonton. Mrs. Haddock, Edmonton, defeated Miss Spencer, Victoria. Mrs. Nell, Portland, beat Mrs. McLeod, Winnipeg. Mrs. Hamilton, Vancouver, beat Miss Duff Stuart. Miss Fitz-Gibbon, Victoria, beat Miss Evans Vancouver.

TORONTO TAKES CRICKET TITLE

Defeat Montreal Team to Regain Canadian Championship

Montreal, Sept. 7.—After a year's sojourn in Montreal, the John Ross Robertson Cup, emblematic of the cricket championship of Canada, returns to Toronto by virtue of a four-wicket victory here yesterday of the Toronto Cricket Club over the defending West Indian Cricket Club, Montreal.

Toronto scored 178 runs in their first innings on Monday and yesterday put on 114 runs for six wickets. The West Indians, after a disastrous first innings of 67 runs, were forced to follow on. When stumps were drawn Monday, they had made only 37 runs for the loss of four wickets, but a desperate tail-end stand brought the score up to 220 before the side was dismissed.

Despite the fine batting display at the end of the West Indians' second innings, it was practically a foregone conclusion that Toronto would be able to make the 110 runs necessary to win the cup. Over-anxiety on the part of the locals when the visitors were at the wicket for the second time cost them many chances, a total of seven catches being dropped.

Green Mill and Sons Play Again To-night

With the count standing three games to two in favor of the Green Mill, the sixth game of the city amateur baseball championship series will be played to-night at the Royal Athletic Park, starting at 5.30 o'clock, between the catmen and the sons of Canada. A win to-night for the Green Mill will give them the title and the right to represent Victoria in the provincial play-off. Should the Sons win the series will be deadlocked, making a seventh and deciding game necessary. It would be played to-morrow evening.

The local champions will go up against the Vancouver Asahs, Terminal League champions, in the opening round of the B.C. series, here on Friday night at 5 o'clock, with the second game on Saturday afternoon, and if a third is necessary it will also be played here Saturday.

WILL DISCUSS WORLD SERIES

Judge Landis and Baseball Moguls Make Arrangements For Season's Classic

New York, Sept. 7.—Kenneth M. Landis, high commissioner of baseball, is in town to make arrangements for the forthcoming world series. The commissioner has called a meeting of representatives of the three leading clubs in each league for Friday when all details of the series will be worked out. Invitations are to be sent to the New York Yankees, Philadelphia Athletics and Washington Senators of the American League and the Chicago Cubs, Pittsburgh Pirates and Brooklyn Dodgers of the National League. The series will open this year in the ballparks of the American League.

Betting commissioners here are offering 2 to 1 that the Yankees beat the Athletics in the series, assuming that these clubs will win the pennants in their respective leagues.

WILL RECOGNIZE FIGHT CONTRACTS

Montreal Commission Gives Recognition to Pladner-Brown Bout in Toronto

Montreal, Sept. 7.—The Montreal Athletic Commission yesterday decided to give full recognition to contracts for holding the world bantamweight championship fight between Panama Al Brown and Emilie "Spider" Pladner in Toronto. Promoter Armand Vincent appeared before the commission here yesterday and explained he had contracted with the Maple Leaf Gardens to hold the match there on September 12. There had been certain violations of contract and misunderstandings, he claimed. Furthermore not sufficient publicity had been given to the fight in Toronto. He said he wanted to bring the contenders to the Forum here on September 14.

The other side of the story was before the commission in the form of letters and telegrams from officials of the Ontario commission, saying the Toronto contracts had been legally entered into and urging that they be respected.

If the contracts had not been fulfilled, members of the Montreal commission said, it was for Vincent to take action in the courts.

Henri Cochet Goes Up Against Van Ryn In U.S. Tournament

Famous French Tennis Ace Meets One of Stiffest Barriers in His Quest for National Championship To-day; Cochet, Who Won Easily Yesterday, Favored; George Lott Finally Turns Back Frankie Parker; Vines Carried to Four Sets

New York, Sept. 7.—Henri Cochet may or may not be the world's greatest tennis player at the moment, but there can be no doubt the spectacular little Frenchman has topped them all as a box office "draw" in the opening rounds of the U.S. tennis championships.

Prospects were he would need all his resources to-day when he encounters John Van Ryn, the steady Philadelphian, in the outstanding duel of the fourth round. The French ace was favored to win but not by any such margin as that by which he overwhelmed Manuel Alonzo yesterday.

Things also promised to warm up to-day for Ellisworth Vines when the United States champion met his doubles partner, Keith Gledhill. Observers anticipated a close match.

Much attention was being given to the formidable British challenge, with "Bunny" Austin much in the limelight. This afternoon Austin meets another strong opponent in Clifford Sutter, of New Orleans.

Fred Perry, England, also is pitted against a ranking United States star, Sidney Wood Jr., of New York, although he is expected to emerge victor. John Oliffe, the third English ace, meets the powerful Frank Shields, of New York, while Edward Avory encounters the Texas flash, Wilmer Allison.

LOTT WHIPS PARKER
George Lott Jr., who made his "comeback" yesterday by defeating young Frankie Parker, Milwaukee, clay court and Canadian champion, in four sets, 6-4, 6-1, 4-6, 6-2, meets Takeo Kuwabara, champion of Japan.

The Lott-Parker match was a battle of nerves. The way, with Parker at times rising to the heights of brilliance and eliciting the loudest cheers his youthful ears have heard, but in the end he couldn't cope with the determined Lott, routed to a pitch usually foreign to his nature.

The match was the high point of the third day's play, in which all but two seeded stars won and joined the select group of sixteen who will continue to the fourth round to-morrow. Dave Jones, New York, seeded ninth in this country, lost a gruelling match to Edward Avory, England, 6-4, 1-6, 6-7, 10-8, and Marcel Bernard, France, seeded No. 6 on the foreign list, was waylaid by Keith Gledhill, the California star, 6-6, 6-4, 2-6, 6-3.

Henri Cochet, France, and Ellisworth Vines Jr., defending champion, went blithely on toward the finals, although Vines was carried to four sets in eliminating Gabriel Lavine, Philadelphia, 6-1, 6-0, 8-10, 7-5.

COCHET SHINES
Cochet, playing Manuel Alonzo, gave a sparkling exhibition in beating the Cuban in the second game, and also closed a two-base hit. He hit two home runs in the first game of Monday's double-header.

Connally held the Browns to eight safeties in the second contest yesterday and made a three-base hit. The Browns used five pitchers in an attempt to halt the Indians' slugging attack in the second game.

BOSTON SIGNS MANY PLAYERS
First game: R. H. E. Cleveland 4 12 1 St. Louis 3 10 1 Batteries—Russell and Sewell; Hadley and R. Ferrell.
Second game: R. H. E. Cleveland 6 13 0 St. Louis 3 10 0 Batteries—Connally and Myatt; Grayson Kinney, Hebert, Blaseholder, Fischer and Bengough. (Only games scheduled. No National scheduled.)

NATIONAL HOCKEY LEAGUE CLUB Will Have Big Turnout For Opening Practice

Boston, Sept. 7.—Manager Art Ross of the Boston Bruins yesterday announced a list of thirty-four hockey players who will report at Quebec on October 20 for three weeks of pre-season practice.

The list, with two exceptions, includes all players under contract with the Bruins of the National Hockey League, the Boston Cubs of the Canadian-American League and fourteen new players.

Neither George Owen nor Miles Lane, Harvard and Dartmouth hockey products, were included on the list. Owen will not decide whether he can leave his business to practice with the Bruins until later, and Lane, Boston University's new head football coach, will condition himself on the gridiron and report to the Cubs after the football season.

The only member of last year's Bruins' squad missing from the list was Ralph "Cooney" Weiland, who has been held in Ottawa. Among the new men were Nelson Stewart, purchased from the Montreal Maroons; Joe Lamb, New York Americans' right-winger last season; Orville Haximier, up from the Canadian-American circuit; Jack "Red" Beattie, out of action last year with a broken leg, and Frank Ingram, late of the Chicago Black Hawks.

Soccer Referees To Hold Meeting

CHICAGO OFF ON ROAD TRIP

Leaders in National League Pennant Chase Invade Opponent's Strongholds

Cleveland Indians Scored a Double Victory in Only Games Carded Yesterday

Chicago Cubs are not the best road club in the National League, but there is nothing in the records to indicate they will lose much of their present six-game lead on their current eastern invasion.

The second-place Pittsburgh Pirates can boast a better record on the road but the Cubs have overcome this by a vastly superior showing at home. Chicago has played 718 ball at home and 459 on the road. The figures for Pittsburgh are 592 at home and 500 on the road.

The remainder of the schedule also favors the Cubs, six of whose remaining twenty-two games will be played at Chicago. Pittsburgh must play all its remaining twenty games on the road.

Action in the major leagues yesterday was restricted entirely to one double-header in the American League. Cleveland beat the St. Louis Browns over the hurdles twice, 4 to 3 and 6 to 0. Earl Averill hit his thirty-first home run in the second contest.

AMERICAN LEAGUE
St. Louis, Sept. 7.—The Cleveland Indians made a clean sweep of their four-game series with the St. Louis Browns by winning both games of a double-header yesterday 4 to 3 and 6 to 0.

Earl Averill, Cleveland center-fielder, hit his thirty-first home run of the season in the second game, and also closed a two-base hit. He hit two home runs in the first game of Monday's double-header.

Connally held the Browns to eight safeties in the second contest yesterday and made a three-base hit. The Browns used five pitchers in an attempt to halt the Indians' slugging attack in the second game.

Patrick's Object To Opposition Ice Rink

Vancouver, Sept. 7.—Assertions that the Exhibition Association's ice rink is, by "confiscatory and inequitable competition," forcing the Vancouver Arena out of business, were made yesterday by R. Rowe Holland, who, with Guy and Lester Patrick of the Arena, met the civic authorities committee.

At Wednesday afternoon's council meeting, aldermen will be asked to name a small committee to consult officials of the Exhibition and the Arena, in an effort to settle the dispute.

"It is a case," said Mr. Holland, "of the city, to whom we pay taxes and license, going into competition with us and making it impossible for us to carry on. The Patriotic stand to lose their investment of $500,000. We have had to absorb losses in past years, but this year we cannot do it."

Clever New York Middle-weight Wrestler Featured on Pacific Stadium's Card

Saturday evening's wrestling card under the auspices of the Pacific Stadium, at their Yates Street arena, will feature in the main event, Bobby Meyers, New York, claimant of the world middle-weight championship, and Eddie Madrick, Buffalo. The bout is billed for eight ten-minute rounds. The show will start at 8.45 o'clock.

Promoter "Winnipeg" Chilton stated to-day he had not lined up his semi-windup and preliminaries, but would arrange a first class supporting card for the Meyers-Madrick bout. Meyers is recognized as one of the toughest and roughest men in his division, and has defeated many of the leading middleweights on the Pacific Coast and in the east. Madrick, a newcomer to the Coast, is figured to give the New Yorker a hard match.

Doncaster, Eng., Sept. 7.—Colors of the Aga Khan were carried to victory to-day in the classic St. Leger by Firdaussi, three-year-old chestnut colt by Pharoos out of Brownhylda, before a crowd estimated at 250,000. Dastur of the same stable was second in a thrilling finish, and Mrs. C. Rich's Silvermere third.

The St. Leger, for three-year-olds is the fifth and last classic of the season and is run at a mile six furlongs and 132 yards. The race was first run in 1776 and is worth more than $60,000.

Firdaussi started at 20 to 1. Dastur at 6 to 1 and Silvermere at 33 to 1. Loaningdale set the pace at the start, leading Royal Dancer, Gavelkind, Will O'the Wisp, Gainslaw, Udalpur, Silvermere, Firdaussi and Orwell. At the end of five furlongs Will O'the Wisp forged to the front, but rounding the bend for the home stretch Silvermere led by a length from Violator, with April the Fifth, Pophorn II, Orwell, Firdaussi and Dastur behind them.

SILVERMERE WEAKENS
Silvermere weakened in the final dash and Firdaussi and Dastur drew away. The time for the race was three minutes 3 2-5 seconds.

It was a great day for the Aga Khan. In addition to capturing first and second places his horses Udalpur and Taj Kakra ran fourth and fifth.

Orwell, W. G. M. Singer's good colt, who was the favorite, and April the Fifth, the outsider who won the Derby this year, dropped out a quarter of a mile from home. Orwell was quoted yesterday at 3 to 1 against. Tom Wallis's Derby winner had been doubtful starter for some time, the decision to run the horse being announced yesterday.

Firdaussi was well handled by Fox. Beary was up on Dastur and Dick rode Silvermere.

Wheat Pit Again Weakened Under Hedging Pressure

Winnipeg, Sept. 7.—(Canadian Press)—Bull forces retreated in the wheat pit to-day. After making a valiant bid for higher levels in early trading when gains of near one cent were established, wheat prices receded before hedging pressure. Closing prices revealed losses of 1½ to 1 bushel.

October closed at 55½; December at 57½; May at 62 to 62½.

Heavy deliveries of new crop wheat brought about the hedging sales. With clearing skies over the prairies threatening in full swing and receipts at elevators have been reported quite good and substantial purchases were made during the day by large interests with European connections. Estimates of sales ran as high as 1,000,000 bushels. In addition, there was excellent buying by Chicago houses.

Liverpool displayed a comparatively easy trend, but cables indicated demand for Canadian wheat was good and moderate sales were confirmed. Offerings from Russia were disappointing and the fact is diverting demand to Canadian varieties.

Trading in cash wheat was slow. Spreads on the top grades were inclined to ease. Demand for oats and barley featured coarse grains trading. Prices were narrow.

To-day's Grain Markets

WINNIPEG

(By Logan & Bryan)

Winnipeg, Sept. 7.—Wheat: The wheat market was fairly active to-day, but after opening unchanged, prices declined about 1½ cents, the market holding steady most of the day at about 1 cent lower, which was up against the daily bid. Export sales overnight were estimated at around 1,000,000 bushels, and there was further buying for export or seaboard account at 1 cent decline, but buyers were not inclined to accept their bids, no doubt feeling that they could get their requirements without trouble.

There was some buying against sales at Chicago, one house taking 200,000 bushels on spreads. Offerings were fairly liberal as elevator companies were hedging throughout the session. The Chicago market early declined about 1½ cent, but recovered most of this loss later, which helped to hold Winnipeg steady at the decline, but it was almost impossible to get this market far from the local spot.

In the cash market there was poor demand for all grades of wheat, and spreads were showing an easier tendency. Country marketings for the two days, Monday and Tuesday, totaled 6,355,000 bushels of wheat compared with 4,818,000 bushels for the same two days last year. Liverpool closed wheat being 1½ to 1½ lower. Broome-hall reported that the milling demand was slow to-day both in the United Kingdom and the Continent. Bradstreet's weekly North American shipments were 7,248,000 bushels.

The Free Press estimated wheat yield for the three prairie provinces at around 327,000,000 bushels, and was about as expected, but somewhat larger figures are looked for from the government, due next Saturday.

Winnipeg close 1½ to 1½ lower, and Chicago 1½ to 1½ lower.

Coarse grains: These markets were all a little lower, largely following trend of wheat. Business is very limited, and no export can be confirmed. Hedging pressure is small and showing a holding tendency to some extent to coarse grains.

Oats closed 1½ to 1½ lower, barley 1½ to 1½ lower, rye 1½ to 1½ lower. Flax was fairly steady but lower, closed 1½ to 1½ lower. No feature trade being very small.

Liverpool due 1½ lower, based on Winnipeg.

Happy Marriages Keep Women Good Looking	Dorothy Dix	Not Only That, Such Women Live Longer
--	--------------------	--

Nagging Wives Who Get Wise to Themselves Find, According to Dorothy, That if They Use "Soft Soap" and Begin to Believe They Are Lucky, Good Looks and Health Will Be Theirs

THE FOUNTAIN of Perpetual Youth has at last been discovered. It does not come out in jars and bottles with a French label on them. It is to be found in a happy marriage.

A famous English doctor says that women who are congenially married not only live longer than old maids and divorcees and fretful nagging wives do, but that they retain their youth and good looks longer and, on the contrary, that nothing ages a woman so quickly as an unhappy domestic life.

So there you are, ladies. If you want to keep your schoolgirl complexion and look a perpetual twenty-nine, all that you've got to do is to keep on thinking that your husband is a Fairy Prince and make marriage a grand, sweet song instead of a scragging match. "Ah," but you will say, "a happy marriage is a gift of the gods." If Lady Luck wasn't with us the day husbands were dealt out it was just too bad for us, but there is nothing we can do about it. You can't wish yourself a happy marriage any more than you can naturally wavy hair.

True. That is just the point. If Nature made the faux pas of afflicting you with stringy, lanky locks, you don't succumb and sit meekly down and go through life with a head looking like a peeled onion. No. You beat it to the nearest beauty shop and have a permanent put in that far surpasses Nature's best efforts.

But if your marriage fails to come up to all your expectations and is more or less a misfit, you simply take the count. You don't make any effort to put a crimp into it. You don't try to manufacture a synthetic bliss that may be almost as good as the real thing. You just let misery and discontent overflow you and make you old and ugly before your time.

Surely no woman needs to be told that happiness is the greatest beautifier in the world. It puts a glow on the cheek and a light in the eyes that no rouge nor belladonna can simulate. It gives a curve to the mouth that surpasses the best efforts of a flapper with lipstick. And so, if for no other reason, for the sake of their looks, it would pay women to cultivate the arts of domestic peace and contentment.

For nothing brings the little tell-tale lines around the eyes so quickly as nagging and fretting. Nothing dulls the eyes so surely as brooding dissatisfaction. Nothing straightens out the cupid's bow of a woman's mouth and makes it a thin, ugly gash in her face like saying mean, peevish things and delivering curtain lectures. It is the expression on a woman's face that dates it. Her number of birthdays has nothing to do with it. If she is smiling and joyous she looks young. If she is moody and miserable she looks old.

For confirmation of this observe your friends and acquaintances. When a girl fades almost immediately after marriage, do we not all recognize it as the infallible indication that she is unhappy? And, on the other hand, do we not all know happily married women who at fifty and sixty still have their good looks and are mere girls?

Now the secret of a happy married life consists in making the best of your bargain. There are no ideal husbands. No automatic self-running homes. No angel children. All husbands have their faults. All homes require work to keep them going. All children are brats. And it depends on the individual woman whether she will let these make her old and ugly by worrying over them and fretting about them or whether she will take them with philosophy and get enough pleasure and happiness out of them to keep her young and pretty.

Women will say, and truly, that to put up with the temper and temperament of the average husband, to give the soft answer that turns away wrath and to keep on smiling when you feel like throwing things requires monumental self-control and sacrifices of one's inclinations. So it does. But so does all the regimen that women heroically go through trying to keep young. Surely the woman who keeps herself in a half-starved state in order to gain a boyish figure, and who looks upon the mayonnaise and whipped cream and chocolate pies without touching them, has mastered herself so completely that she would find it mere child's play to hold her tongue in any time of domestic stress and argument. Any woman who can count her calories can count her words.

Surely the women who have cut out all of the things they like best to eat would have no difficulty in cutting out criticism, and snappy come-backs, and fault-finding, and nagging, and those who have been heroic enough to do their daily-dose could easily substitute for the bending and twisting and contorting little flattering attentions, a few words of praise, a little appreciation and jollying, a medium of the soft soap that makes the domestic machinery run without squeaking.

And assuredly women would find it no more difficult to keep their wits supple than they do their bodies, and they might even discover that there was more profit to them in coloring their opinions to agree with their husbands' than in trying their hair. For any woman looks good to a man who looks at things from her point of view.

From time immemorial women have tried every panacea for keeping young that has been offered them, from bathing in asses' milk to starvation. Let's hope they will try this new theory of making marriage a success as the best way to keep young.

SHAKESPEARE

Every year thousands of persons visit a town in England. They come from Canada, from Australia, from South Africa, and from the United States. Most of them have other reasons for visiting England; but all are happy to see this little town.

Shakespeare (from the painting by William Page).

wrote plays for the actors, and it was in this field that he won his great fame. The lines were in blank verse. They did not "rhyme," but some of his phrases and sentences are among the most beautiful ever composed in English.

Shakespeare is one of the small number of men of genius who have won large financial reward. His plays proved popular during his lifetime, and brought returns to him. Not only did he write plays, but he also acted in them. For many years he was the head of a company of actors, which made tours of England.

"The Tempest," "Hamlet," "Romeo and Juliet," and "The Merchant of Venice," are a few of his famous plays.

Shakespeare lived during the time of Queen Elizabeth, and she watched him act. An old record states that he was one of three actors who were rewarded for taking parts in plays at the queen's palace in Greenwich. (For "Biography" section of your scrapbook.)
